

Return-to-Work Move Begun Over Extensive Front

CIO Leaders Discount
Claims of Steel
Executives

FEAR NEW VIOLENCE
Mayor of East Chicago,
Ind., Asks for Troops

Youngstown, Ohio. — (P) — Major General Gilson D. Light of the Ohio National Guard said today approximately 15,500 men were back at work in the strike-besieged steel plants in Youngstown.

As the strike called against four independent steel companies entered its thirty-third day, back-to-work movements were launched all along the Ohio-Pennsylvania front.

The steel workers organizing committee, C.I.O. affiliate, called out workers of Republic Steel corporation, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Bethlehem Steel's Cambria plant at Johnstown, Pa., and the Inland Steel company after the concerns had refused to sign labor contracts with the SWOC.

C.I.O. leaders, discounting claims of employers as to the number of men returning, declared the figures should be "discounted 50 per cent" and added "we have just begun to fight."

Plans were under way to attempt to re-open plants in the Calumet area of Chicago, where 22,000 workers have been affected by the strike.

Asks For Troops
Troops were asked at East Chicago, Ind. The mayor feared trouble if two steel companies attempted to reopen their long-closed mills.

But Governor M. Clifford Townsend, the fourth governor of the seven-state strike front to be faced with a call for soldiers, told the mayor:

"There are no disturbances in East Chicago now, and I do not anticipate any. I am not sending troops now, I will not place East Chicago under martial law unless unforeseen disturbances occur."

During the 33 days of strike for signed bargaining contracts, national guardsmen have been used in Michigan and in Ohio; and in Pennsylvania there has been martial law.

Half of Ohio's militia is maintaining order today in the Mahoning valley, the heart of the state's steel industry. Governor Martin L. Davey, in a lengthy statement last night, said he would keep the soldiers here "as long as necessary."

New Picket Lines
John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, which less than a week ago charged the arrival of state soldiers here because the troops were then under orders to prevent any "back-to-work" movement pending efforts of federal mediators, drew up new picket lines in new determination to win the strike.

Said Gus Hall, a CIO organizer:

"The strike has not been broken in any way, shape or form. It hasn't been broken, and it can't be broken."

The claims of both sides were so widely divergent that it is difficult to obtain, this, however, is the general situation:

The Cambria works of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, second largest empire of steel in America, are in operation following the lifting of martial law at Johnstown, Pa., Saturday.

Resume Operations
Plants of Republic Steel Corp. and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. idle nearly a month, again are operating.

Republic's plant at Monroe, Mich., (where troops bivouacked two weeks ago in fear of trouble at a Sunday mass meeting of strikers) is operating.

But the union said:

1. At Johnstown: "We will stop the operations (at the Cambria works)."

2. At Warren, Ohio: "Our strike can't be broken because our men are presenting a solid front against the back-to-work movement."

3. At Youngstown: "Hold the line, strike is getting stronger."

Governor Davey replied to charges of CIO leaders that by use of troops he was "depriving the strikers of their legal rights" and had committed political suicide.

Davey's Statement
Said the governor:

"Neither the state troops nor local officials have any authority to deprive strikers of their rights, that is peaceful picketing and persuasion, freedom of speech, or peaceful assembly. We shall see that nothing of this kind happens."

"I realize that labor supported me last fall, and I would be an ingrate if I failed to acknowledge it. What many people do not remember, however, is the fact that two months after the election I took the oath of office to support and defend the constitution of the United States and the state of Ohio and to faithfully and impartially administer the office and enforce the laws."

"I realized that this (strike) situation was loaded with dynamite, politically, and it would be impossible to please everybody. Our responsibility is to preserve law and order and to protect the just rights of all people."

Congress May Be in Session Until Autumn

Leaders Want Action on Major Bills Before
Adjournment

PROGRAM OUTLINED

Debate on Court Bill May Wait Until After
July 4

Washington. — (P) — Democrats in congress settled down today to the task of enacting a heavy administrative legislative program that may keep them at work until fall.

They said a series of weekend picnics with President Roosevelt and administration leaders on Jefferson island in Chesapeake bay had strengthened sentiment for holding congress in session until it acts on major bills.

Leaders placed at the head of the legislative state the court, government reorganization and wage and hour measures.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, senate floor leader, said debate on the court bill might be deferred until after July 4.

Another item on the administration list — a bill resigned to aid tenant farmers — came before the house today.

Robinson stepped onto the Naval academy dock at Annapolis, Md., yesterday after returning from Jefferson island, and told reporters:

"It looks to me as if adjournment is far in the offing — although I'm willing to work out something."

House Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas insisted the outing was purely social and that any "shop talk" was incidental and informal. He said he had not heard the court matter mentioned in his three days on the island.

Such prominent foes of the measure as Senators Wheeler of Montana, O'Mahoney of Wyoming, King of Utah and Representative Lammie of Ohio agreed that a Sunday of baseball, hog calling contests and congenial conversation had little bearing on the court issue.

Many of the sun-bronzed legislators said, however, that the week-end of frivolity might have some effect in removing friction from Democratic ranks.

Another of the hosts, Senator Pittman of Nevada and I had a busy time.

Mr. Roosevelt left the island before sundown on the U. S. S. Potomac, for an overnight trip to Washington.

Receipts were $2,213,000,000 through June 24, and are expected by treasury officials to reach about $2,280,000,000 by Wednesday, or $56,000,000 over the revised estimate. This figure would be $530,000,000 under the January estimate.

Officials attributed the decline under original estimates to failure of income tax receipts to meet expectations, litigation tying up rail retirement and windfall tax collections and a sharp drop in expected gift tax revenue.

On the basis of these estimates, this year's deficit would total about $2,670,000,000, exclusive of debt retirement, compared with a revised estimate of $2,537,000,000 and an original estimate of $2,238,000,000.

This deficit would bring the public debt to about $36,300,000,000.

Committee Approves
Retirement Act Taxes

Washington. — (P) — The senate finance committee approved today special taxes on railroads and their workers to finance the revised railroad retirement act.

The measure, passed last week by the house, would impose graduated levies on pay rolls, shared equally by the roads and employees, starting at 3 per cent for three years and increasing to 7 1/2 per cent by 1942.

27 Persons Entombed
As Tunnel Collapses

Feoul, Korea. — (P) — Twenty-seven workers were entombed today when a new railroad tunnel in Kogendro province collapsed. Fifteen others were pinned under the debris.

REPORTS ON GOLD

London. — (P) — Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, lifted the veil from Britain's tremendous exchange equalization fund today to disclose in the house of commons that it owned 26,674,000 fine ounces of gold on last March 30.

He said also that the Bank of England, on the same date, owned 73,842,000 fine ounces of gold — about $2,581,470,000. That made a British-owned gold total of $3,518,060,000.

Richberg Urges Adjustment of Labor Disputes

Stopping Work Means Loss of Untold Wealth. He Maintains

Milwaukee. — (P) — Donald R. Richberg, former NRA administrator, told delegates to the thirty-third annual convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen today "every hour that masses of men spend fighting each other, instead of working for each other, means the loss of untold wealth that our generation can never regain."

Complimenting the veteran brotherhood on the manner in which it has solved employee relations through the years, Richberg said the same harmony was not so apparent in the rest of industry today.

Richberg said an outstanding need today is to find a way to adjust differences between employers and employees without stopping the wheels of industry.

The former NRA head told the railroad men that there is only one alternative to democratic cooperation — and that is autocratic control.

"We can either control our lives or turn that control over to someone else," he said.

Need Self-Discipline
Richberg told the delegates: "You know that self-discipline, self-control, and tolerance of the rights of others are essential qualities of a sound labor organization. You learn of that a successful contract must provide for a fair exchange of services and duties, and a fair division of rewards, so that it will be to the interest of all concerned to continue to work together."

"A labor organization that has to solve modern problems of contract can place very little reliance on muscles and emotion. It has to use brains. It cannot take a proposition, such as for example, that men may want $10 a day for eight hours work and then simply try to make someone pay the bill."

Richberg said the blustering employer who still roars his defiance of the rights of labor and the power of public opinion no longer recommends himself as a safe manager of large properties.

Bomb Wrecks Auto of
A. F. of L. Organizer

Detroit. — (P) — A bomb's explosion wrecked the automobile of an American Federation of Labor organizer early today and hurled sleeping women and children from their beds.

The bomb, which police said contained dynamite, shattered the front of the car of Joseph O'Laughlin, A. F. of L. organizer and business agent of a truck drivers' local, and wrecked the neighborhood.

An unidentified man, who witness said, had driven up to O'Laughlin's car and tinkered with the hood.

FIVE CARS DERAILED

Dining Car Remains on Track, Passengers
Escape Injury

Seventeen persons were injured, none seriously, about 6:15 last night when a broken rail caused five cars of the Chicago and North Western's fast train, Flambeau, to topple over in swamp land three miles south-east of New London. Names of all of the injured were not available as a number of the passengers were treated at the scene of the accident and then continued to Chicago.

The injured:

S. R. Albert, Chicago, back injuries.

Marie Collin, Chicago, legs badly bruised.

J. S. Carlson, Chicago, shock and bruises.

Cecil Molseed, Milwaukee, bruises.

Dr. Phil J. Stein, Chicago, bruises on hands.

Walter Matzke, Milwaukee, head injury.

Donald Talbot, Chicago, bruised right arm and shoulder.

Curtis A. Brooks, Chicago, bruises and contusions about chest.

James Murray, Chicago, colored, cut hand and bruises.

Andrew Armstrong, Chicago, colored, bruised right arm and leg.

Ray Koepke, West Allis, injured arm and bruises.

There were 32 persons in the five cars that toppled over, railroad officials said this morning. The dining car, in which most of the passengers were riding at the time of the accident, remained on the track.

Two coaches, a baggage car and the engine also remained on the rails.

Five Cars Topple Over
Two parlor cars, two coaches and a lounge tipped over on their right sides along the right of way. About 600 feet of track was ripped up. It was believed that the all-steel cars saved the passengers from serious injury.

Members of the train crew said the train was going about 65 miles

Won't End Fight For Lost Colonies

Goering Says Reich Must Be Independent
Economically

Berlin. — (P) — Colonel General Hermann Goering, Adolf Hitler's chief aide, renewed Germany's plea for return of her lost colonies today with the declaration it was "intolerable" for the Reich to be dependent economically on other nations.

The ever-resplendent air minister sounded nazism's determination to be self-sufficient just 18 years to the day since the formal signing of the treaty of Versailles stripped a conquered Germany of her colonial empire after the World war.

Goering told the opening session of the ninth session of the international chamber of commerce "you may be sure Germany will continue to bring up the colonial problem until her urgent and legitimate desires regarding colonies are fulfilled."

"Furthermore," warned Goering, who as director of Germany's self-sufficiency program is vital economic dictator of the Reich, "Germany is working with all her energy on the undertaking known as the four-year plan."

"Just as Germany must be able finally to rely on her own strength — and on that alone — to defend her territory, so must she be self-supporting economically if she is to preserve her independence, honor and international prestige," said General Goering.

4 Persons Killed, 25 Injured in Appleton Region Over Weekend

Hitler Speech Clouds New
Hope That Spanish Strife
Won't Spread in Europe

Rome. — (P) — Italy and Germany will not accept a "complete" Franco-British international neutrality pact of Spain, an authoritative spokesman declared today.

The announcement came on the eve of a non-intervention committee meeting to consider steps for closing the gap left in the patrol by the withdrawal of German and Italian warships.

London. — (P) — A new spirit of modified optimism in some capitals were considered today to indicate a relaxation of fears the international crisis growing out of the long drawn-out Spanish civil war would provoke European conflict.

Two developments, however, in an otherwise calm weekend clouded the feeling of relief.

In Wurzburg, Chancellor Hitler told a party rally of 200,000 nazis that Germany will henceforth take independent action to protect herself from attacks by the Spanish government.

Der Fuehrer linked the Reich's interest in the fate of the insurgent regime with Germany's acute raw material shortage.

"It is generally known," he said, "we try to buy ores everywhere. Therefore, we would welcome a national (insurgent) government in Spain in order to be able to negotiate with it under normal circumstances."

Report Vessel Sunk
In Valencia, the Spanish government announced a merchantman had been sunk Friday by a submarine and ordered a special vigilance fleet into service to sweep her waters of undersea craft.

London, Berlin and Rome were the heads of their governments were in seclusion at their respective country retreats. Only in Paris and Moscow were there a gloomy belief the last repercussions of the joint Italo-German withdrawal from the neutrality patrol had not yet been felt.

Hitler outlined the events leading up to the present crisis — perhaps the most dangerous of the Spanish war — to his followers last night in a biting criticism of the non-intervention committee's efforts to isolate the conflict.

When the German cruiser Deutschland, on neutrality patrol, was bombed by a Spanish government plane, he said, Germany retaliated by shelling the port of Almeria. That brought condemnation.

Reich Disappointed
When the cruiser Leipzig was attacked by a submarine while on patrol duty, he said, Germany hardened to that condemnation and placed her faith in the non-intervention committee. That brought disappointment.

"From now on," der Fuehrer warned, "we will prefer in such cases to take the freedom, independence, honor, and security of our nation into our own hands and protect ourselves alone."

Irwin Is Taken to
New York to Face
3 Murder Charges

Killer Thinks Stay in 'Nut
House' Will Save Him
From Chair

New York. — (P) — A path to the electric chair was charted today for moody, eccentric Robert Irwin, long-sought youthful sculptor, as the law pushed toward a sudden, smashing solution of the Easter Sunday triple murders on Beekman hill.

Although the 29-year-old artist formerly was in inmate of an insane asylum, Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine and district Attorney William C. Dodge announced they would ask the grand jury for three indictments for first degree murder in the slayings of Veronica Gedeon, young artists' model, her mother, and a male roomer.

A defendant must be adjudged sane to be convicted of murder in the first degree, for which the penalty is death in the electric chair.

Irwin was arrested in Chicago yesterday, more than 12 hours after he had surrendered in the offices of the Herald and Examiner, Chicago newspaper. He was brought here by airplane last night in the custody of New York detectives after waiting extradition.

Will Use Confession
The grand jury, Valentine and Dodge said in a joint statement, will be given a detailed statement which Irwin dictated to the Herald and Examiner, confessing all three

Milwaukee Police Thwart Attempt of Father to Gain Possession of Child

Milwaukee. — (P) — Police today thwarted at the county airport the attempt of a father to gain possession of his 5-year-old daughter who has been living here with her mother.

A fast-moving series of events, beginning with the snatching of the girl into an automobile on a lower east side street and ending with the seizure of the father by police as he arrived at the county airport with the girl, took only half an hour.

Police said the father, Joseph Ball, who gave his address as Willow Grove, Pa., the daughter, Isabel, and a male companion of the father were taken into custody at the airport, where they were attempting to charter a plane.

Barney Lusardi, 27, called police after he said he saw a car stop, a man leap out and drag the screaming little girl into the machine.

Police traced the license of the automobile to a driver-licensed agency where they learned the machine had been rented by two men a short time before.

Police then learned that the party of three had abandoned the rented car and entered two "taxicabs enroute to the county airport."

Police conversed on the airport to find Ball's companion, arrived first and attempting to charter a plane. Ball and his daughter arrived a few minutes later. Two patrolmen and two detectives took them in charge.

Fifteen minutes later Mrs. Isabelle Ball, the child's mother, inquired in person "if any child had been brought in." When Sergeant Walter Hussman told Mrs. Ball what had happened, she fainted.

Today and Tomorrow

BY WALTER LIPPMAN

The New Leviathan

When Mr. Philip Murray, of the C. I. O., offered "in the spirit of good faith" to accept, the president of the United States as the final arbiter in all questions in dispute," he showed how imperfectly he understood the realities of the situation. The president of the United States has disqualified himself as an arbiter in this dispute, and in that central fact lies the fundamental difficulty of settling the issue by the method of reason.

The President is incapable of arbitrating the dispute because, unlike the other Roosevelt in the coal strike thirty years ago, he is financially indebted to and politically allied with one party in the dispute. Would Mr. Lewis or Mr. Murray accept the president as arbiter if the steel companies were the largest contributors to his campaign fund and if the Liberty league had worked for his election as the C. I. O. worked for it? Would they accept an arbiter the head of an administration which had condoned the suppression of picketing as this administration has condoned the occupation of factories by sit-down strikers?

Arbiter Must at Least Have Idea of Being Impartial

An arbiter must have at least the intention of being impartial. But when in the record since the famous declaration at Madison Square Garden is there anything but evidence that Mr. Roosevelt regards himself as the leader of a mass movement rather than as president of the United States? The plan of the matter is that Mr. Roosevelt has put what he calls the attainment of his objectives above the obligations of his office.

On that ground alone, on the claim that he must attain his objectives, he has devoted his second term to destroying by any means that seem to him efficient of the moral and legal rights of those whom he thinks are disposed to stand in his way. The pledges of his platform have been cynically and contemptuously ignored. The independence of the judiciary has been subjected to an assault as devious as it is brutal. An unprecedented power of patronage and money has been used to cajole and coerce congress. The moral right of the citizen to be convicted in a court of law by a jury of his peers is being ruthlessly disregarded by the wholesale indictment in the press of large numbers of taxpayers.

These Are Not Tactics Of Constitutional Ruler

These are not the tactics of a constitutional ruler. This is not the temper of government by law. This is the exercise of power by a man who has come to think that his ends justify his means. The most shocking thing about it is that in great numbers of people the conviction is rapidly growing that the objectives that he is prepared to deny them their rights. In my own case, for example, I am not a little much averse to alarms and forebodings and I have a deep-seated distrust of reports that ascribe vast grandiose designs to American politicians. I think they plan and plot almost never and that they improvise almost always. In the past it has seemed to me that Mr. Roosevelt was an improviser of the first order, and that while he talked a lot about planning, he rarely did plan ahead, and that while he announced "objectives," he was never very clear about what they were.

But since he began his second term I feel, let us hope mistakenly, that he really does have a plan and that he is determined to execute it. It is not a plan of social reconstruction. It is not a program of social reforms. Proposals of that sort have been singularly lacking since January. It is a plan, as I see it, to gather together an irresistible force over the economic life of this country and to consolidate that power in the hands of his own following. That, as I read it, is the design of the judiciary bill, of vital parts of the reorganization bill, of the so-called wages-and-hours bill, and perhaps most of all of the insistence upon retaining a free hand in the spending of public money.

Many Believe Powers are Intended to Help the Poor

I know that there are many sincere men and women who believe these powers are intended only to help the poor and the unfortunate. But I do not think that a president who is primarily interested in helping the poor would assume, as Mr. Roosevelt does, that they can be helped only by subverting the democratic procedure and the checks and balances of the American constitutional system.

I do not understand, to take a specific example, why when the green rights are set for a statute outlawing child labor in interstate commerce, the administration pretends to have child labor regulated by a presidential board concerned with a thousand other and separate problems. I can think of no good reason for that except that the administration is more interested in

3 Federal Judges Call 'Sit-Down' Strikes Illegal

Lawrence Says Roosevelt Must Protect Interstate Commerce

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—President Roosevelt is charged by the federal constitution with the obligation to execute faithfully the laws of the United States and among them is the law of 1890 which forbids anybody to conspire with anybody else to restrain interstate commerce. Ever since the day the Supreme Court States handed down its decision upholding the Wagner labor law, this correspondence has contended that the federal government had the power to prosecute the prime movers in a "sit-down" strike and anybody else who undertakes to interfere with the shipment of goods in interstate commerce.

Now comes in corroboration a unanimous opinion by the United States circuit court of appeals for the third circuit, which, while in no way mentioning the duties of a president of the United States, clearly establishes the lawlessness of the "sit-down" strike as well as lawless picketing or interference with the operations of industrial plants engaged in interstate commerce.

This decision was handed down last week, but the full text of it did not come to my attention until today. A reading of the decision shows that there is federal power to prosecute the conspirators who have endeavored to close down the steel plants and other companies through lawless methods.

3-Judge Opinion

The opinion was rendered by a three-judge court, namely, by Justices Buffington, Davis and Dickinson. It was interesting to note that Judge Davis, who wrote the opinion, was appointed to the bench by President Wilson and before that was a United States attorney and prior to that appointment was a state senator and Democratic leader in the New Jersey state senate.

First describing the lawlessness that was suddenly introduced in and around the Apex hosiery plant, where peaceful conditions had always prevailed, Judge Davis then said:

"If there had been a strike or any labor trouble at the plaintiff's factory, the law provides a remedy for its peaceful settlement. The main purpose of the Wagner act was to avoid the industrial strife by providing an orderly method of settling controversies and causes of union, and defines and declares the rights of labor and provides machinery for enforcing them."

"Underlying this case is the question of whether a few lawless individuals, ignoring and condemning the Wagner act and in defiance of all law and order, and in ruthless disregard of the rights of others should be permitted by assumption the name of a union to deprive all others of their means of livelihood and compel them to contribute of their earnings to self-styled leaders."

"A few 'sit-downers' are keeping 2,500 persons, who were entirely satisfied with their positions, from working and from earning an honest living for themselves and their families. If an employer had denied to labor any of its rights, the Wagner act provided an orderly way of calling him to account. Instead of resorting to this act, the defendants by force and intimidation sought to compel the employer and its employees to do what the Wagner act does not countenance and what the judgment of every true friend of labor and of all good men condemns as wrong both in policy and principle."

"Public opinion will sympathize with labor in using every fair, just and legal means to secure and protect its rights, but public opinion—and this includes the sane, sober, thoughtful and law-abiding element of labor—will feel outraged at the lawless conduct of the defendants which, if tolerated, would strike down American institutions, flout our long-cherished principles of even-handed justice and destroy

STILL CAN SMILE

Robert Irwin, 23, charged with slaying three persons in New York Easter Sunday, said, when asked if he expected to be sentenced to the electric chair, "I'm not worried about anything." The young sculptor is shown here smiling nonchalantly in Chicago police showup.

the foundations of the government itself. Then Judge Davis proceeded to cite the supreme court decision in the Jones and Laughlin case, commonly known as the case that upheld the Wagner act, and he repeated the language of Chief Justice Hughes as follows:

"When the intent of those unlawfully preventing the manufacture or production is shown to be to restrain or control the supply entering and moving in interstate commerce, their action is a direct violation of the anti-trust act. And the existence of that intent may be a necessary inference from proof of the direct and substantial effect produced by the employee's conduct."

Judge Davis continued to show the parallel, declaring with respect to the "sit-down" strikers in the Apex plant:

"The defendants in effect argue that the purpose of the conspiracy here was not at interstate commerce but at the plaintiff's plant to yield to their demand for a closed shop and check-off; that, however unlawful their acts were, they were incidental, only a means to an end, and do not constitute a conspiracy in restraint of interstate commerce."

"This argument overlooks the fact that a strike is lawfully conducted in itself lawful and its lawfulness now has statutory recognition. There could be no conspiracy under the Sherman act or otherwise because of doing a lawful thing. It could not become a conspiracy unless the means employed were unlawful."

"It may be that the ultimate intent of the conspirators in this case was to force the plaintiff to sign an agreement for a closed shop. This would be perfectly all right if the defendants had used lawful means to bring it about, but when they used unlawful means—the commission of crimes and the restraint of interstate commerce—they know exactly what they were doing and must have intended, as rational beings, to do exactly what they did. The ultimate object which they had in view in no way exculpates them from the violation of the Sherman act."

Interstate Issue

"The defendants knew full well that the silk and cotton used in making hosiery came from outside of Pennsylvania. They also knew that when they seized and stopped the operations in that factory and refused to allow $800,000 worth of finished hosiery to be sent to the purchasers, they were restraining trade and the free flow of interstate commerce. This was a necessary and direct consequence of their acts and they must be held to have intended it."

The foregoing not only lays the basis for the recovery of triple damages in a civil suit if the employers wish to pursue the matter in the federal courts but it furnishes a prima facie case for the president of the United States and the attorney general to institute prosecutions for violations of the June, 1934, statute relating to the use of force to induce an agreement in any matter affecting interstate commerce."

This statute places the discretion as to prosecutions solely in the

Young Democrats Reaffirm Faith in Roosevelt

Elect Conservative Slate of New State Officers, However

BY JOHN W. WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Staff Correspondent

Portage, Wis.—Decorum became the forgotten word as delegates of young Democratic clubs from 50 Wisconsin counties held their fifth annual convention here over the weekend.

As this staid little city opened its gates wide to welcome young Democrats from all sections of the state, delegates bent on fun-making turned the convention into an old-fashioned political picnic, hooted, cheered, exploded firecrackers and generally made merry. Sandwiched in were business sessions with paradoxical results, namely, the election of a conservative slate of officers, supposedly with the blessing of the regular Wisconsin party organization, and the adoption of a series of resolutions to which not even the most rabid New Dealer could object.

High Lights of the Convention:

Reaffirm Faith

1. Reaffirmation of faith in and allegiance to President Roosevelt and unqualified support of all his works, including that politically explosive subject, the supreme court enlargement plan.

2. Adoption of a resolution pledging support to Senator F. Ryan Duffy in his 1938 reelection campaign.

3. Denunciation of Governor L. Follette and the Progressive third party as a "tool of reaction," a ready pretext for a conservative coalition "in which we can see only the destruction of true liberalism and real progressivism."

4. Almost unanimous election of James J. Cavanaugh, Antigo, three times Langlade county assemblyman, as president for the new year.

Many Squabbles

The Democratic party tradition for unruly conventions was fully upheld as 300 youngsters, aged 18 to 40, squabbled throughout the day on credentials, elections and a variety of other matters.

The assembly quieted down Saturday morning to hear Dr. M. L. Richmond, Sheboygan, retiring president, tell them that the young Democrats are building a "political youth organization," far exceeding anything ever attempted before.

"Our purpose," he declared, "is to give political expression to the social needs of American youth." That, he insisted, can only be obtained through unwavering loyalty to Mr. Roosevelt. For "his ideals are our ideals."

Keynote was Jack Walters of Sheboygan, who was followed on the platform by Charles E. Broughton, Sheboygan Democratic national committeeman, in an impromptu appearance. Broughton's appearance was significant for it was he who brought before the resolutions hands of the attorney general and it specifically conserves the "rights of bona-fide labor organizations in lawfully carrying out the legitimate objects, thereof, as such rights are expressed in existing statutes of the United States."

Here, however, is a unanimous opinion by a United States circuit court of appeals that force and violence were used to induce the signing on an agreement and to interfere and restrain interstate commerce. Will the president and the attorney general now make an example of "sit-down" strikers and ask for indictments as required by the 1934 statute?

Bible School Students Study Churches in City

Churches in the city of Appleton were studied by the junior high school division of the Community Daily Vacation Bible school as a project during the 3-week period and all data has been combined in a large scrapbook.

The book is illustrated with snapshots of local churches taken and developed by the students and drawings were made of floor plans. Essays were written on the style of exterior architecture, stained glass windows, wood carvings, paintings and general arrangement of each church.

The church program of worship was a phase studied and copies of church programs are included. The church membership, pattern of organization and services rendered to the community were outlined.

committee the plan for a declaration of support in the Roosevelt court plan.

Asks Definite Stand

Broughton, leading state Democrat, who has been comparatively silent on the supreme court issue, plunged unhesitatingly into that subject.

Asking the endorsement of youth for every act of the Roosevelt administration, he demanded that the convention "take a definite stand on the supreme court question." Reviewing Roosevelt deeds, he charged the court with "nullifying the best piece of legislation ever enacted, the NRA."

Name Officers

Officers chosen were James J. Cavanaugh, Antigo, president, Mrs. Margaret Vickers, Park Falls, vice president to succeed herself; Justin Williams of Pierce county; treasurer to succeed A. J. Ashenbrenner of Stevens Point; Arno Miller, Portage, chairman of the state central committee to succeed William Frawley of Eau Claire, and secretary, Mary Herman of Beloit to succeed Phyllis Hughes of Milwaukee.

A banquet and a speech by former Governor Francis E. McGovern of Milwaukee, and a dance following topped off the convention's activities.

Eighth congressional district delegates registered included A. J. Cohen, Francis Rooney and John W. Collins of Outagamie county; Jack Durand, Marinette county; and Charles Kelly, John Gosz, Roy Strout, Dr. Stewart Barnett, and Charlotte Zahorik of Manitowish county.

Traffic Committee to Study Truck Protest

Members of the traffic committee of the common council will meet at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning at the city hall to consider a protest against use of Prospect avenue by heavy trucks. Alderman Thompson is chairman of the committee.

County Farmers Warned to Watch For 2nd Hay Crops

Must Attend Nurse Crop Closely to Prevent Smothering of Second Growth

If the new seedlings of alfalfa and other hay crops are to make their best progress this season, it is likely that many farmers in Outagamie county may need to give close attention to the condition of the nurse crop in order that it may be removed at the proper time to prevent smothering of the crop, according to R. C. Swanson, county agricultural adjustment agent.

George M. Briggs, of the College of Agriculture, in a recent report, calls attention to the fact that lodged grains and thick nurse crops are often the cause of many poor stands of alfalfa and other hays. Should the grains lodge that are being used for nurse crop be thick, Briggs recommends the cutting of these for hay.

Field tests and farmers' experiences over a number of years indicate that a nurse should be removed as soon as possible after they lodge. Thickly seeded grain crops, even though they do not lodge, can be removed as hay to advantage to the new seedlings. Nurse crops to be used as hay are more palatable and valuable as hay when cut in the dough stage.

Briggs also finds that bearded grains, like rye, barley or wheat, if to be used for hay, should be cut before they are too mature, otherwise undesirable.

Outagamie County Farmers Get Loans Totaling $19,000

Rural Rehabilitation Loans Were Started 18 Months Ago for Needy

Rural rehabilitation loans, totaling $19,000, were made to 40 farmers in Outagamie county since the establishment of the loaning program 18 months ago, according to a review made this week by James H. Dillon, county supervisor.

The loans, according to the policy of the Rural Rehabilitation division, are made to deserving and needy operators who, because of insufficient collateral, are unable to secure the necessary credit from other agencies. Applicants are required to have suitable land resources and evidence of sufficient farm experience and managerial ability to repay the loan within a five year period.

As the basis upon which to make loans to eligible farmers, practical "farm plans" including summaries of last year's business and financial statements are developed for them by the county supervisor. Definite provisions are made in the farm plans for a sufficient livestock and crop program and emphasis is placed on producing maximum amounts of home grown products for family use. Careful consideration is given to the farm and household budgets, setting aside a sufficient balance from the incomes to repay at least one fifth of the loan, plus five per cent interest each year.

Buy Stock and Equipment

Funds borrowed by farmers were used for the purchase of livestock, feed, seed, and farm equipment, many of these needs being caused by the drought of 1935 and 1936.

The Rural Rehabilitation program originated in 1934 under the direction of the Wisconsin Rural Rehabilitation corporation, and July 1, 1935, all of the work was transferred to the Rural Rehabilitation division of the Resettlement Administration.

Arlie Mucks is the Resettlement administration's state director of rural rehabilitation in Wisconsin.

Appleton Man Granted Patent on New Device

Charles L. Henderson, Sr., 711 E. John street, Appleton, has been granted a patent by the United States Patent office for an apparatus for coating printing cylinders, according to an announcement made today. The device comprises a rotatable table mounted so as to support a horizontal cylinder through which a sensitized solution may be applied during rotation.

Mr. Henderson made application for the grant in October, 1935. It was approved yesterday by the examiners as to 14 features of originality and improvement. The commercial rights are assigned to the Paper Patent company in Neenah, the patent office states.

May Have Home Loan Office from Oshkosh

The Appleton Chamber of Commerce is asked to oppose a movement to charge the Home Owners loans corporation office from Oshkosh to Milwaukee in a letter received at the local chamber from G. C. Campbell, secretary of the Oshkosh Chamber of Commerce.

Campbell pointed out that the office is now centrally located to serve 27 counties. There are now 6,000 loans in force and any change to a Milwaukee or Chicago location would inconvenience interested parties, he said.

Improve Grounds at City Disposal Plant

Grounds at the sewage disposal plant are being improved by a small crew of workmen from the city relief list and when the work is completed an area of land near the east end of the site will be ideal for picnic purposes, according to Clarence Baetz, superintendent. The land is near the river and will be a cool spot during warm summer days.

French and German Will Be Taught This Summer

Free instruction in French and German will be given by R. F. Belle, Appleton, at the Appleton Vocational school during the summer months. Application may be made from 9 o'clock to 12 Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday mornings and class assignments will be made. Classes will meet on an average of two times a week and both beginning and advanced courses will be offered.

Expect Many Entrants in Bicycle Races at School

If your son or daughter is tearing around the block on a bicycle with no apparent place to go, don't blame it on the heat, he is probably practicing for the bicycle races to be sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon at the Wilson Junior High school athletic field.

Practically every youthful cyclist in the city is expected to enter the first annual bicycle races which are planned as an initial step toward the organization of a bicycle club in Appleton. The afternoon program under the direction of C. C. Bailey, boys work secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will get underway with a decorated bicycle parade around the track and prizes will be awarded the winners.

Separate events will be conducted for boys and girls in the following age divisions: 10 to 12, one and three laps; 12 to 15, two and four laps; 15 to 18, two, four and six laps.

Instruction will be given concerning the proper way to ride a bicycle and plans for the organization of a club will be discussed. Safe riding will be the aim of the club and it is planned to take 1-day trips to scenic spots in this vicinity. Routes would be mapped upon little used roads. It is expected the club will be endorsed by the Appleton Police department.

Lose Weight... but Don't Lose Energy

The new Bread Diet keeps up your energy while it helps to burn up fat

THE Bread Diet is a safe reducing diet. It takes off pounds. Yet you will feel splendidly energetic while you reduce—not weak and irritable.

Extreme diets cut down too much on energy foods, and they may result in nervous breakdown. The extreme diet should be undertaken only under your physician's direction.

Three years of research in leading American universities and laboratories are in back of the Bread Diet.

Everyone should know that Bread itself is not fattening. It is not just a "starchy" food—but a combination of energy-giving carbohydrates, and a special form of protein that helps burn up fat while you are reducing.

If you want to reduce safely, follow the Bread Diet. It cuts to a minimum foods that are practically all starch, the sugars and fats. It gives Bread as the main part of your energy food.

FOLLOW THIS BREAD DIET PLAN

Wading Pool in LaFollette Park To Be Ready Soon

Workmen Complete Excavation and Sewer Connection Work

Kaukauna—Construction of the south side wading pool, now under way at LaFollette park, will be completed by the end of the week, Oscar W. Alker, chairman of the board of public works said today.

Building of the pool was approved at last Tuesday's council meeting, and a similar project was set for the north side but disagreeing over the site has prevented actual construction there. Opposition arose last week to building in the City park, Lawe street, the site originally chosen by the board and the Women's club, who consulted with them.

Specifications for the pool, as they were released from the office of Frank M. Charlesworth, city engineer, call for a structure 34 by 39 feet, with the water's depth graded from 6 inches to 18 inches. Wall at bottom will be made of reinforced concrete. A constant supply of fresh water will be supplied by a fountain in the center of the pool.

Excavation for the LaFollette park pool was finished Saturday and sewer and water connections made. Forms for the concrete are being built today and pouring of concrete will start tomorrow.

Work should be finished by Saturday, Alker said, but some time will be required to let the cement dry. There is a possibility that water can be put in the pool next Monday.

Robert Hagman, 221 Diederich street, a student of Michigan State university, went to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., to a camp. Both men have just completed their sophomore year in forestry. They will stay at the northern camps until Sept. 3.

Gilbert Pennock, Ironton, Ohio, a student friend of Hagman's, came to Kaukauna last week, and made the trip with the Kaukauna men.

About 300 adults attended the affair, 125 of them bringing children. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Melchoir and family, Sheboygan, were the guests who came the greatest distance to attend the picnic.

Prizes in sheephead were won by Mrs. Theodore Nyles, Miss Ruth Blake, Mrs. Alvin Warneke, and Mrs. George Eimerman. Prizes in hearts went to Mrs. Michael Brewster and Mrs. Joseph Winn. Lunch was served.

Highway Police Check 50 Cars on County Roads

More than 50 cars have been stopped by Outagamie county highway patrolmen and given the standard road test for lighting and braking equipment, the highway department has announced. Only 10 per cent of the drivers stopped had their operator's licenses with them. Those who were found without operator's permits were ordered to report to the highway department and prosecution will follow if drivers do not carry permits. The department warned, on July 2 of the cars stopped carried stickers to show that the headlights had recently been tested.

Epworth League Institute Ends At Brillion Camp

Wausau Pastor Delivers Final Sermon Sunday Evening

Forest Junction — In conclusion of the Epworth league institute, which Appleton district Methodists of the Wisconsin conference had been holding at the Brillion camp, two and one-half miles east of Forest Junction, during the preceding week, the Rev. F. E. Frankson of Wausau, dean of the institute, preached the final sermon on Sunday evening. His text, "The Lord Hath Said In His Heart, There Is No God," came as a climax to a series of sermons he had delivered during the evenings of the week dealing with "Religion and Science," "God and the Geologist," "God and the Naturalist," and "God and the Astronomer." The choir from the Brillion congregation supplied the special music for the evening service.

The student enrollment of 101 this year in six classes was the highest attained during the 12 years that the Epworth league institute has been held as a part of the annual Methodist camping at the Brillion grounds. The general theme, "Developing Christian Character," had been divided into four principal headings, with the Rev. Dan Stahmer, Sheboygan, and the Rev. Henry Johnson, Neenah, conducting classes in "Training in Personal Devotional Living," the Rev. H. G. Tröst, Marinette, and the Rev. Mr. Stahmer, in "The Ideal Pattern for Character Building," the Rev. O. C. Dittes, Sheboygan Falls, conducting a forum on the Epworth league; and the Rev. Ira Schlagenhauf, Appleton district superintendent, conducting a class in "Appreciating Our Church."

Certificates Awarded
In recognition of class work during the week, Dean Frankson, on Sunday afternoon, awarded certificates to 61 students, of whom 27 were honor students who had attended all class sessions and fulfilled all class requirements. In addition to the 61 awards, there were six students who were receiving their third certificate, which entitled them to a diploma issued by the denominational board of Christian education at Chicago. Marinette had the largest registration of students, with Sheboygan second. It is proposed to revive the practice next year, which had been previously in vogue, of annually awarding a banner to the league with the highest percentage registration.

Most impressive feature of the week's assembly was the annual campfire service conducted Friday evening by Dr. A. D. Willett, Eau Claire district superintendent of the West Wisconsin conference, substituting for the Rev. W. C. Kurtz of Manitowish, who was prevented by illness from attending any of the sessions. Around a campfire on a slight elevation at the edge of the camp, this consecratory service this year included the use of an illuminated cross at a distance from the campfire, to which the individual members of the group made their pilgrimages with lighted candles. Substituting for the Rev. Mr. Kurtz on the institute faculty and as director of music at the campment, was the Rev. H. O. Blackburn of Mosinee.

Recreation Periods
Under the direction of the Rev. Ralph Hawkins of Wittenberg, daily periods of recreation were engaged in by the student groups. A Brillion team emerged victoriously over the visiting delegations in a series of softball games.

As president of the student council, Miss Luella Johnson of Marinette is being succeeded by Miss Shirley Dalnador of Wausau, in consequence of an annual election. The Rev. F. E. Frankson will again be dean of next year's institute, and the Rev. H. G. Tröst will again be manager. The installation of shower bath facilities at the camp has been undertaken as a ground improvement project to be completed during the ensuing year, and donations for the purpose are being solicited from the Epworth leagues of the district.

Hollywood News And Gossip

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood — "For sale — large hilltop mansion, tennis courts, swimming pool, extra guest house, 12-acre grounds. Comes furnished with sweetest story that ever went sour in film world. Owner desires to break with past."

The signs are not up yet, and when they are they won't be worded that way. But the hypothetical notice above tells the story better — for undoubtedly Pickfair will be offered for sale when Mary Pickford becomes Mrs. Charles (Buddy) Rogers.

Only two things were settled when I called: they would be married at a simple ceremony and they would not live at Pickfair, where "Mary and Doug" played royalty to Hollywood for 13 years.

While other June brides-to-be are chasing from shower to shower, Mary Pickford has been busy with business. It is momentous business, too, concerned with the sale of her share of United Artists.

This does not mean Mary's departure from active film life, say her friends, nor will marriage to Buddy Rogers mean the emergence of a new Mary-sit-by-the-fire.

Whether she'll star her 34-year-old husband is something even she professes not to know, but it seems in the cards that she'll produce pictures. All but five of her 44 years have been spent in stage and screen work.

Lately radio and writing have added to her responsibilities. She and Jesse Lasky disagreed after two films, but she might find another partner. Or even go it alone, but there's less chance of that.

As for Pickfair, there has been some talk about its being acquired as part of the Beverly Hills park system. Mary, who got the property when she split with Fairbanks, never has expressed herself definitely on the idea. But she'd like her friends say—to think of children playing on the rolling lawn, and of folk meeting there, just the way they have done during her long tenancy.

John L. Lewis Takes Down Hair in Pegler Interview

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER
New York—A week ago I had a long interview with John L. Lewis in Hugh Johnson's office in Washington. When the general called up Lewis to suggest the meeting, Lewis said, "I think he is crazy," but agreed to come over and let down his hair. He was sore because I had written under legal compulsion, if that exists, because the CIO was irresponsible and its contracts therefore were not worth a damn.

I think it might rock the baby to report parts of the conversation, because Mr. Lewis said the CIO, far from shirking responsibility, would be glad to accept responsibility, although he did not say in what form.

I do not believe in the use of direct quote in such pieces, because people hop-scotch around from one topic to another and a verbatim account would run on and on like a night watchman's dream.

Believe me, though, that Mr. Lewis herein gets none the worse of it, because I was cheered as many and industry, when their rights are equalized in a practical way, should become equal factors with equal responsibility to the country.

Says Labor Will Demand Responsibility
I had been beefing about labor's refusal to assume responsibility and here was the tough guy of the labor movement insisting that his outfit doesn't refuse but, in due time, will demand it. I asked why he didn't tell the world and thus allay some of the alarm the purposes of the CIO and Mr. Lewis said he had been too busy fighting on a dozen fronts in the field. Matters that can wait will have to wait.

John Lewis was sensitive about the reliability of CIO contracts, because he is proud of the record of the united mine workers who have never broken an agreement in 30 some years, to hear him tell it. He said, of course, there had been some small disputes and trouble in spots where contracts existed, but that these had been quickly ironed out and settled strictly according to the bond.

As for the breaches of contract in the automobile plants in Michigan, he explained that both the bosses and the men were operating in new and to them strange, and rather strained relation, and that both sides were nagging, but would shake down into cooperation as soon as they adjusted themselves to the change.

The union leaders were new to leadership, but this was the fault of the manufacturers themselves because they had so long bullied, harassed and spied upon those who attempted to develop the talents of leadership.

Why didn't they recognize labor's right to organize 10 years ago? In that case the system would have been operating smoothly by now.

CIO Contract Not Worth A Damn
Anyway, Mr. Lewis didn't hold with such strikes and, although he condoned them for the seasons stated, he deplored them, as you may be glad to know.

I didn't say this at the time, because I don't think very fast, but it has since occurred to me that I was right in saying that a CIO contract isn't worth a damn, or, anyway, not much of a damn. Because, while the law now protects the union and gives the employer a firm pushing, around if he utters just one peep against the union to the help, the law still doesn't penalize the union if it breaks an agreement and throw him for a terrible loss by re-

Crews were recently doubled up so that the present work period would be completed by June 30, the end of the fiscal year.

On this particular summer day, Jean was chipping the miles on the road from Lansing to Flint. Judging her distance carefully, Jean swung the car out in the fast lane of traffic to pass the car in front. And then things began to happen. Above the contented purr of her powerful motor burst the ear-splitting "BANG" of a blow-out. The big sedan zig-zagged. The driver of the car which she had passed was able to stop short. EVERY day you see girls like Helen Jean Talbot whizzing along in expensive cars. Helen Jean is a part little debutante of fashionable Grosse Pointe, Michigan, who dances all the latest steps, wears the latest clothes, and drives her car just as well as any man.

On this particular summer day, Jean was chipping the miles on the road from Lansing to Flint. Judging her distance carefully, Jean swung the car out in the fast lane of traffic to pass the car in front. And then things began to happen. Above the contented purr of her powerful motor burst the ear-splitting "BANG" of a blow-out. The big sedan zig-zagged. The driver of the car which she had passed was able to stop short. But all that separated Jean's car from a yawning ditch were a few scant inches of crumbling earth.

Of course, Jean loves a thrill—but as she said later, this was one too many for her. That's why, today, Jean's car is equipped with Goodrich Safety Silvertowns with Golden Ply blow-out protection.

Work on Avenue Will Be Held Up Two Weeks

Because WPA workmen constructing new curbing and gutters on College avenue will be idle for two weeks when the present work period is completed this month, the construction work may not be extended into the block between Appleton and Superior streets, according to Lloyd M. Schindler, city engineer. If possible the work will be held to the present block between Oneida and Appleton streets so that the next block will not remain torn up during the idle period.

Crews were recently doubled up so that the present work period would be completed by June 30, the end of the fiscal year.

The treasury will use 1,016 tons of paper in printing the nation's currency during the 1937 fiscal year.

THE NEIGHBORLY POLICY
MARCHES ON

There are those who are thoroughly dissatisfied with the casual and leisurely way followed by our neighbors in taking over American property and confiscating American wealth.

There are advocates who declare that the operation should be performed at one fell swoop so that those involved might have something else to engage their talents at banditry.

Mexico is following a course of her own, neither slow nor instantaneous although rather swift.

The government there has just taken over the railroads, expropriated them without sign or warning. Thus about 40,000 employees become servants of the government. And thus new and vital problems, concerning government itself are confronted.

But the interesting thing insofar as the Neighborly Policy is concerned affects the treatment of American investors. These investors have about 73 millions of American dollars in Mexican railroads. They invested at the request of the Mexican government in control at the time the investments were made, a matter of form 30 to 40 years ago. They were probably quite willing to make the investment expecting at least a normal income and hoping that the development of the country, and therefore the extension of the railroads, might make the investment a sound and judicious one.

The Mexican government has merely taken their property. Dillinger and a gun typifies this method as applied to individuals. With oil on its voice and a gleam of hypocrisy in its eye Mexico says it will value these interests and pay for them.

As though Mexico ever paid anyone for anything!

Heretofore it has been considered a rule of civilization that before you took anyone's property away from him for public purposes you valued it and paid for it. The patriots in the American Constitutional Convention put that proposition right into the constitution. They had a similar provision in the Mexican constitution. They got around it very easily. They just packed the court.

Of course Americans will not get anything out of this theft of their property at all. Before the announcement of the Neighborly policy the Mexican government would not have dared to commit this robbery in the daylight and on a principal street. But it understands the Neighborly Policy thoroughly. It reads between the lines. It knows you can never depend upon the language of an undependable administration. Was language ever invented excepting for the purpose of deceiving the yokels?

So it follows suit. It, too, uses its prettiest language. It will value Americans' property and it will pay for that property. It uses this language to deceive just as the language of the Neighborly Policy has been used to deceive, blindfold the people to what has been going on as their pockets are picked and their property is expropriated for the glory of the revolt that is bound to come.

AFTER PUBLIC OWNERSHIP IS COMPLETE

The senate committee at Washington has ascertained that the Post Office Department of the government was virtually subject to the control of strike leader Lewis.

When the strike leader told the mails to keep out of a certain plant they kept out. The attempt to justify was first placed upon the ground that food was transported in great quantities through the parcels post, but the senate committee finds that the simplest articles of wearing apparel and hygiene, from a pair of socks to a toothbrush, were refused delivery at the direction of the C.I.O.

That this has never happened before in America's history, that it is a bonding of all governmental agencies to the purpose of one man at the head of a movement revealing many irresponsible actions is a matter by itself, and yet directly related to prevailing policies that are fraught with peril for all.

After the government has all its waterpower developed and the private utilities ruined and is the sole purveyor of light and power it will not be necessary for leaders of the Lewis type to bother with the post office. Then an order given to the Secretary of the Interior, who will probably be at the head of the utilities, to shut off power and darken homes and paralyze industry, will be sufficient.

Thus does government ownership centralize all the opportunities for devilishness.

A PAGE FROM KILLERS' RECORDS

Lester Brockelhurst received the death penalty in Arkansas as the result of his "Crime Tour." That is what the records will show. But they are not altogether accurate.

It is true Brockelhurst was a killer. But that alone will not bring him to the chair. He faces a just punishment because of two things, one, he was apprehended so shortly after his crime that witnesses had no difficulty in recognizing him, and, two, he voluntarily waived his constitutional privilege to keep his lips closed, and talked.

The case of Ruth Freed, who was discharged from custody at Chicago on the same day that Brockelhurst was shunted toward the chair in Arkansas, presents in pretty strong outline what may be accomplished under our flabby laws by a killer who is close-mouthed and has accurate and cunning legal advice.

Mrs. Freed disappeared at Chicago on July 2nd last directly after a flaming flasher called Miss Vallette was murdered. The accused answered the description of the woman who entered Miss Vallette's apartment just before the murder. She was also the wife of one on whom Miss Vallette was at the time showering her fickle affections. No one ever suspected anyone of the murder except Ruth Freed.

But the accused had dropped out of sight with a sudden effacement that could not have been accomplished without previous plan and methodical assistance.

After the lapse of a year, witnesses who saw the killer enter the apartment were uncertain in their recognition, a not unnatural circumstance, although there was evidence of tampering.

Moreover, Ruth Freed indicated an intimate acquaintance with the constitution. After giving her name to the coroner she declined to answer all other questions. And that ended it. She was discharged.

The fact that an accused person will secrete herself for a year while newspaper headlines are announcing the search is powerful evidence of guilt. The fact that such an accused person will not answer a single question concerning her whereabouts at the time of the killing, or since, or why she went into concealment, are likewise potent circumstances pointing toward guilt and continuing so to point while they remain unexplained.

The lapse of a year during which the officers are helpless furnishes an excellent opportunity to a criminal to corrupt witnesses by bribery, intimidation or otherwise, and the delay furnishes an excuse for the answer from the stand, "I don't know."

An accused person's privilege of remaining mute is a relic of conditions in the distant past that no longer exist, and the rule should be altered.

Today it amounts to nothing more than a weapon in the hands of the sly and the artful, used solely for the purpose of keeping criminals free. And there are enough of them free without it.

It is a reflection upon intelligent government, and a double reflection upon rulers who permit it to stand because urging its repeal might not be of any particular value in getting votes.

STILL MORE COMING

Mr. Vyshinsky, a noble Soviet who has had much to do with the exposure of treason and Trotskyism in Russia, now declares that all these "Vinovieff and Kameneff conspirators" and the flock of army officers selling out their country and the thousands of lesser hunks of clay who were unceremoniously shot have not told the whole truth.

Quoting him:

"They told less than half the truth in their testimony and they actually lied and double-dealt again, trying to conceal others from investigation and thus preserve them."

If the world was unable to swallow the "confessions" so completely and beautifully detailed by these arch-conspirators who loved to brag of their devilish treason how can it be expected to absorb still further facts that the conspirators, now cold in death, failed to expose?

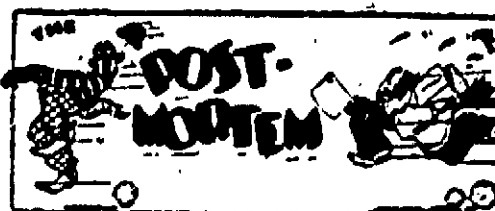

Reading these other "confessions" most people thought there was nothing so abject and damning that men could tell. But Mr. Vyshinsky says you haven't heard the half of it.

Translated from the difficult Slavic words in the Russian language his statement means that there are still some hundreds of thousands to be shot. He doesn't want the Russian people to feel secure merely because the big guns told their story. He wants the people to understand that they are in great danger, that the Trotsky conspirators were much more far-reaching than first supposed and have actually permeated every condition of Russian life.

This will likely lead to a beautiful period of winter hunting. Every cross-eyed boy and every girl with a little St. Vitus dance, every man and woman who has a peculiar twitch or an unusual cowl will be hunted out.

Russia must be clean. It craves purity. How else can it arrive at the glorious consummation of its desires excepting through generous baths of blood?

More than 55,000 persons arrive and depart by train from the national capital in one day. Passenger trains arrive and depart on an average of one every 6 minutes.

THE knowledge that approximately $500,000 was spent by the Nevies in Washington to pay publicity agents is neither startling nor encouraging. . . . It is obvious that any additions to other Washington dippy-dos will not make much of an impression on us. . . . there have been so many screwy propositions thrown at us that we are getting pretty calloused. . . . the next item to be considered is that of the remote chance of any of the government-employed copy writers pressing anything but a glowing picture of the entire proposition. . . . after all, even if one government branch is about as necessary to the national welfare as the seven-year itch, it is hardly likely that its publicity men will let the people in on the truth. . . . this would not only embarrass the proposition, but might also lose for the publicity man his job. . . . then there is also the fact to be considered that the newspapers and news services in the country have placed in Washington a corps of news writers whose job it is to dig in and get the dope. . . . the majority of them will present what they see in an impartial light and the public has a reasonable chance of getting at the truth. . . . moreover, the public has an opportunity of reading about the newsworthy incidents and is relieved of the necessity of hearing about someone's pay money-waster painted as indispensable to the nation. . . . there is one other little item to be considered. . . . this is the fact that the law specifically forbids the payment of money for this purpose unless appropriated for the purpose. . . . none was appropriated. . . . the Nevies laughed at the law again to the tune of a half million for hokum. . . .

Of course, there is the matter of the coast guard cutter that whisked Prince Franklin Junior out to meet Miss DuPont some time ago, at considerable expense to the public purse, but it might not be a nice gesture to bring this up at a time so close to the wedding.

HE RUNS A GOOD PAPER, ZEKE

Pumpkin Center

Jonah—

I don't read any of Colonel Frank Knox's newspapers. He was the prophet, you know who said if Roosevelt was re-elected no savings bank account or life insurance policy would be worth a tinkers damn.

He believed, like the Prophet in Holy writ. "To him who hath, shall be given, and to him who hath not, shall the darkness come."

I confidently believe he now carries a retraction in every issue of this paper. Tsk. Tsk.

And I'd like to quote, if I may, just what John L. Lewis asked of this administration in his fight with General Motors.

He said: "We have advised the administration, through the Secretary of Labor and the Governor of Michigan, that for six months the economic royalists represented by General Motors contributed their money and used their energy to drive this administration out of power. The administration asked labor to repel this attack and labor gave its help. The workers of this country expect the administration to help the workers in every legal way, and to support the workers in General Motors plants."

Brutally blunt and bitterly true.

(Ed. Note: And an insult to FDR.)

Raskob of General Motors once before ran a man for president. He was a Democrat from the side-walks of New York. Also a Liberty Leager.

—Ezekiel Sodbuster

Wasn't it General Electric instead of General Motors? The Roosevelt family owns lots of General Electric stock, too. And was labor more responsible for Roosevelt's election than the farmers?

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

IF THIS WERE OUR LAST SUMMER

If this were our last summer, I would be striving to please in large and little ways. There would be no task great enough for me. To prove to you that your love fills my days.

If this were our last summer, and I knew With every moment that was slipping by. Our days together were so very few. There would be no one half so kind as I.

If this were our last summer, I would cease To scold you and complain, and you would know— Seeing me walk in such strange ways of peace— That there was something wrong, and tell me so.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Monday, July 1, 1912

The Democratic national convention in Baltimore was still tightly deadlocked that day, after the thirty-first ballot, in its efforts to select a candidate for president. On the last ballot taken that day the count was Wilson 475; Clark 466; Underwood 164; Harmon 17; and Kern 2.

William Buchanan, founder of the Appleton Wire Works and one of the oldest wire weavers in the United States, that day retired from business after 39 years, selling his holding to his son, G. E. Buchanan and his brother-in-law, A. B. Wessenbaker.

William, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mollen, Little Chute, drowned in the Fox river between Kimberly and Little Chute the previous Saturday afternoon. The accident occurred when he fell from a raft in the water.

10 YEARS AGO

Monday, June 27, 1927

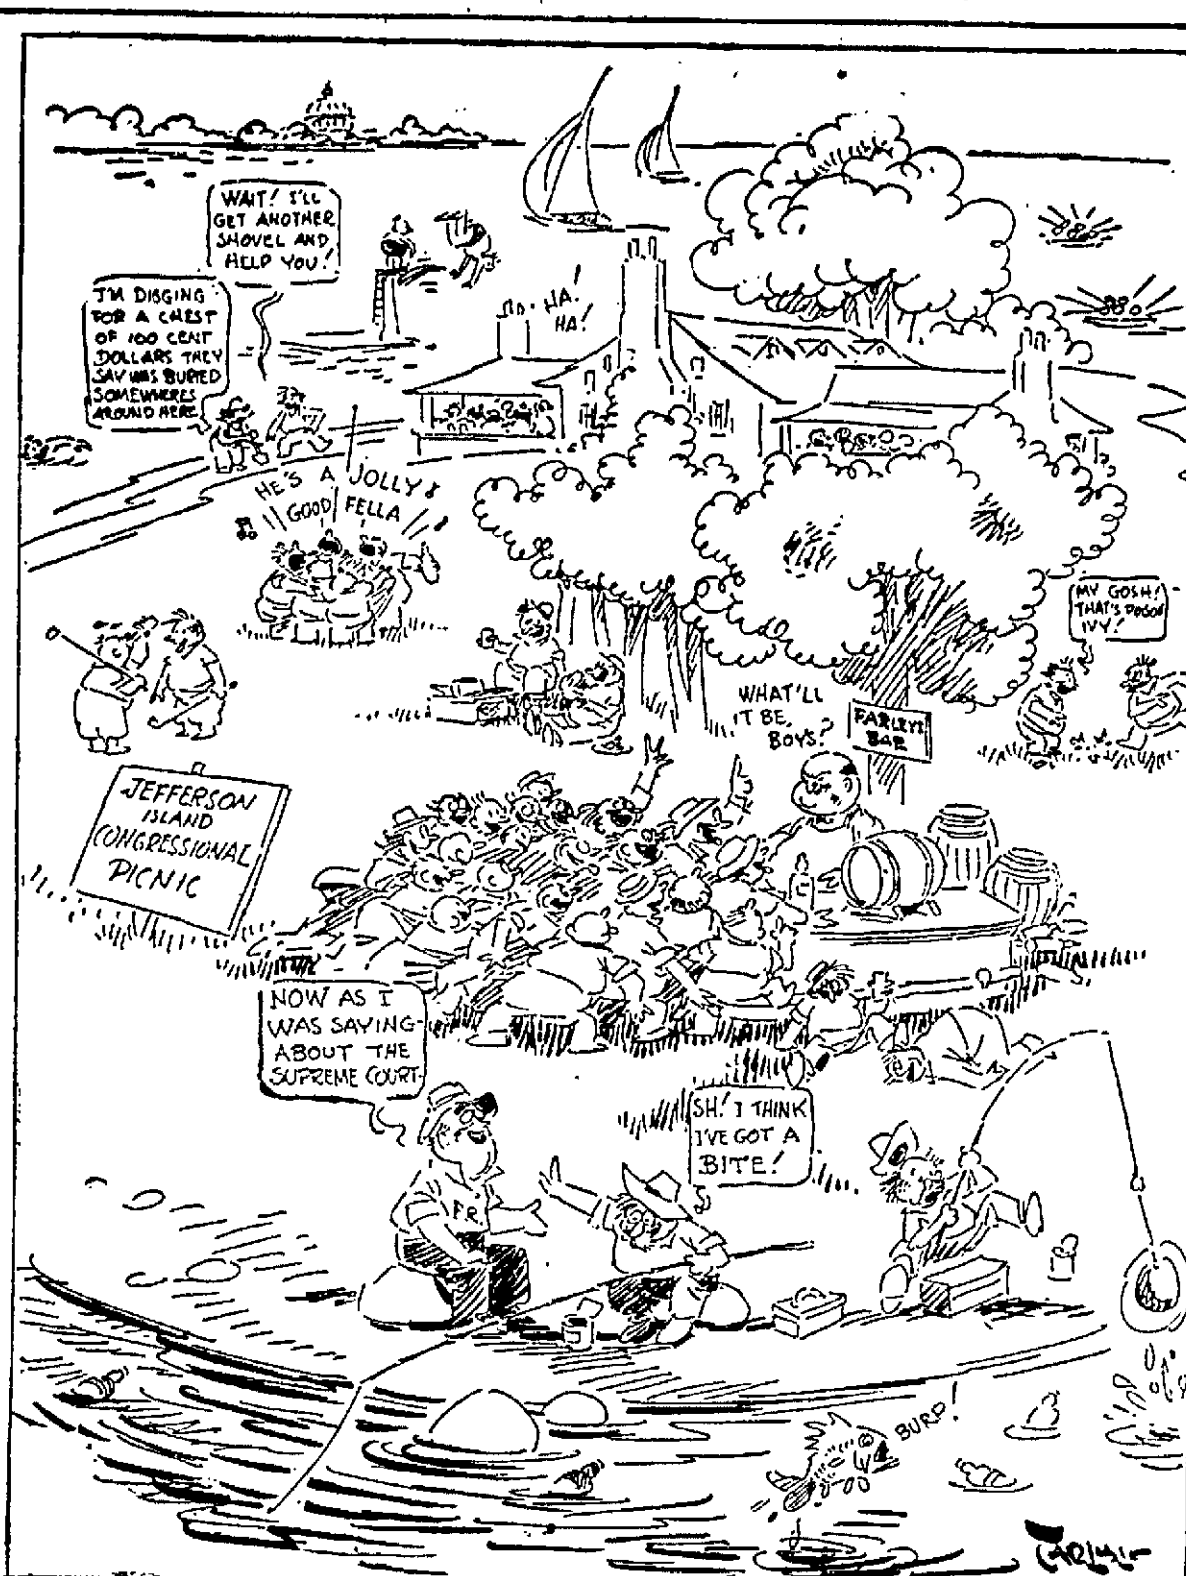

William T. Tilden, American star, entered the singles semi-finals of the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis championships Monday by defeating the French star, Jacques Brugnon.

The principal event of the 6-day reunion of the 1917 graduating class of Appleton High school Friday and Saturday was a dinner-dance Saturday evening in the Crystal room of the Conway hotel. Robert Morrow was toastmaster.

Between 400 and 500 persons attended re-dedication services at Ellington Lutheran church Sunday. The church building was recently renovated and rededicated. The Rev. W. Wodinski, pastor of the church, and the Rev. T. B. Redin, Kingston, preached the sermons.

The Pleasant Dale school building, School District No. 7, will be sold at auction Monday evening and the contract for the erection of a new school building will be closed.

AND WHAT'S MORE FUN THAN A PICNIC?

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

BUSINESS OF EATING AT ODD HOUSE

There will be no special room to be designated and used exclusively as a dining room at Odd House. Oh, we enjoy eating well enough, too, well, perhaps, and that is one reason why there will be no dining room. The space slavish builders usually give to the dining room will be used for the library at Odd House. Contrasted with the forbidding austerity of the conventional dining room an honest-to-goodness library with real books, globe, dictionary, encyclopedia, maps and the like, makes an ideal place to entertain dinner guests. And heaven forbid that any guest at Odd House shall ever be baited with finger-bowl or doily.

At one end of the kitchen a space nearly or quite the size of the kitchen proper will be reserved for the everyday business of eating—snacks, lunches, breakfasts, dinners when just ourselves or intimate friends are dining. While it is possible of course to serve a good meal in a starchy dining-room extravagantly and imposingly fitted with impedimenta and whatnots, I cannot recall ever having enjoyed a feed in such an environment. May be this is merely because I'd rather not remember such occasions—anyway, you can see why there shall be no dining-room at Odd House. This end of the kitchen to be used for the business of eating will open upon whatever pleasant outdoor aspect, patio, garden or yard the building plot affords; so that we may have coffee or the whole meal served out there or the hired man can enjoy his crackers and milk out there between games, so to speak. Games of what? Never mind, you wouldn't know unless you have played the ancient game of bowls in a serious way.

Whether the fuel used for cooking is coal, wood, kerosene, gasoline, charcoal or gas, the stove will be covered by an ample cowl with a vent passing straight up from the cowl out thru the roof to the open air, to carry products of combustion, smoke, fumes, steam and odors out of the house. If the vent pipe cannot pass straight up high enough to insure a good updraft, a suction fan will be installed in it to draw the vapors and odors out of the kitchen.

All taps or faucets in the kitchen sink, as throughout Odd House, will be operated by foot pedal.

All coffee grounds will be emptied down the kitchen sink drain—this practice helps scour and keep clear the drain which is otherwise likely to become obstructed by accumulations of hardened grease.

If electric power is not excessive in cost, the kitchen will have an electric garbage disposal plan—a gadget which shreds or grinds into pulp all garbage and disposes of it thru the kitchen sink drain in the most sanitary possible way. This practice has been found satisfactory, does not tend to clog the drain but on the contrary keeps it clear, and does away with the objectionable garbage receptacle and the nuisance of the garbage collector.

Only tap water will be used for drinking purposes, and an electric water cooler separate from the refrigerator. A water softener will be installed to soften the tap water for bathing and laundry purposes.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
The Garlic Legend
Is it true that garlic purifies the blood? (J. H.)

Answer—Well, it does as well as beans or cabbage.

Telangiectases
Do you know of any treatment of telangiectases except skin grafting? (Miss M. A.)

Answer—The minute dilated venules may be obliterated by treatment similar to the chemical obliteration of varicose veins by injection. Finest gauge needle, strong light and binocular loup, plus skill and patience, required. Each vessel or group of vessels must be entered with point of needle and gently scarified. Any good doctor who cares to take the trouble can give such treatment satisfactorily. In some instances of telangiectases in a limited area electro-desiccation of the venules may be preferable.

Spotted Fever
Any risk in spending vacation in Yellowstone Park, that is risk of contracting Rocky Mountain spotted fever? (N. L. W.)

Answer—Not enough to worry about. Rocky Mountain spotted fever occurs more in the Bitter Root valley northeast of Yellowstone Park. Wood ticks, feeding on large animals and on some rodents, convey infection by their bite. Wear tick proof clothing, inspect body daily for ticks. A vaccine confers protection against milder types of the disease.

Your Birthday

"CANCER"
If June 29 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. and from 5:30 to 7:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:30 to 9:30 a. m. from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m. and from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

Lack of consideration of the likes and dislikes of the average individual will be thearring note in bath home and business circles this day. Any disappointment you may suffer this day, probably will be more than compensated for, by a pleasant surprise. There may be a period during the day that the imagination will be responsible for some very fantastic idea, the principal one being an imaginary injustice, or that someone has deliberately ignored you. Anything of a disconcerting nature very likely can be easily rectified, providing you go about it in the right way. Married and engaged couples, and those who would be willing to become formally betrothed, will show good judgment if they are better listeners than talkers this day.

If a woman and June 29 is your birthday, you may have to be careful not to overindulge the cravings of a sweet tooth if you wish to retain a youthful figure. You perhaps are witty, excellent company and very popular. You, in all likelihood, plunge headlong into things with an enthusiasm that leaves your friends gasping. You are stimulated to activity more by inspiration than by impulse. You probably are able to anticipate contingencies. The chances are you will be very fortunate in money matters, and in time may have substantial sums at your disposal. You are very practical in some ways, but apparently theoretical in others. As a professional shopper, entertainer, musician, dancer or broker you might make a huge success. Love will be the corner stone of a happy home that is likely to be established through your marrying well.

The child born on June 29, is apt to be either mechanically or artistically minded. It probably will give evidence of this in its early teens. Encouragement will be needed for this youngster to direct its efforts in the proper channel.

If a man and June 29, is your natal day, you may go too much on the theory of "nothing ventured, nothing gained."

Only through conservative, thrifty measures can you expect to lay a firm foundation for a fortune. As an inventor, manufacturer, banker, sales representative, artist, actor or writer your big opportunity may come.

Seen And Heard
In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER

New York—Billy Rose, the somewhat refugee, bobbed up with the right idea when Cleveland invited him to do something nice for the Great Lakes Exposition this summer. The man who would like to take a small Balkan war on tour, if he can find one, has a rosette palace, on pontoons, hitched to the shores of Lake Erie, and in it is America's No. 1 water-baby, Eleanor Holm Jarrett, plus Johnny Weissmuller, the No. 1 Tarzan, and all the current diving and swimming champions who competed in the Olympics last fall. The result has been startling in the extreme.

For Rose, who likes to produce circuses in opera houses and whose stunts have enlivened state world fairs, has now come through with a musical comedy that takes place in water.

It's like this: You're seated at a table, dining on pheasant or brook trout, in a blue, cool theater as large as a football stadium. Suddenly the stage backs out into Lake Erie, leaving twenty feet of water (in depth) between you and the stage. On each side towers rise to startling heights, each adorned by half a dozen diving boards. From these boards the diving champions go into an exhibition of fancy diving, all to music, that is just as good, if not better, than the judges themselves saw at the Olympics.

After that, about 200 shapely lassies come out and slip gracefully into the water, swimming to music, forming beautiful patterns in the water and achieving an almost unbelievable effect in rhythm and beauty. The most breath-taking scene is when the mermaids, adorned with luminous bathing caps and gloves, dip into the waves and frisk like porpoises while exotic lights play upon them and casts an enchantment that lasts for hours after the show is over and the audience has left its seats to dance to the strains of Wayne King's romantic waltzes.

They do things in Cleveland in a big way, and a lot of people are wondering why New York has never had such a show as Billy Rose's Aquacade, with its world champion divers spinning pinwheels from a height of 60 feet, to music, and its swarms of water-nymphs enmeshed in languid routines through the crystal waves of Lake Erie.

(Hey, Billy, New York's gonna have a world fair in 1939. How about it?)

Street scene: Mona Bliss, whose name used to be Nancy Brown, rushing through Grand Central with a case of canaries in one hand and a cage of white mice in the other. She's the illustrator whose subjects deal largely with animal life.

A Bystander
In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — We have it on reliable authority from the culinary department that the pickings are going to be mighty lean in certain foreign capitals for those Americans who live abroad because they like the flavor of the alien social whirl.

The anti-feed-the-frivolous campaign was started by one hard-headed American ambassador who became tired of endless entertaining for do-nothing Yankees abroad and decided instead he was going to spend his meat and fish money on native figures who really counted.

Money's Worth

Here is a sample of what has happened in the past. An ambassador to a South American republic had no fancy American legation in which to entertain. So he used the British club. That meant that every party had to be thickly studded with British. It had also been the custom to pack the parties with "deserving" Americans living there or visiting for the season. The result was that few important figures of the republic were entertained, few friendships were made, and the ambassador went home with his salt. That condition hadn't changed much through the years, until recently.

Then came the example of the hard-headed diplomat who decided he was not going to be ambassador to the American colony, but to the country to which he was assigned. His predecessor had been so hard-riding by the American colony that he wound up his service with a bare fraction of the foreign connections he had hoped to establish.

Not all Americans will be cut off his guest list. Some have important connections and cannot be snubbed. But there are flocks of rich Americans who failed to make Newport yet find that their supplies of candy make them big enough to get along in some foreign colony. So they impinge on the ambassador's time and eat his fried-cakes without contributing a penny-weight of "inside" help.

Costly Business

Screams of indignation from the "parasites" echoed back to Washington. But the state department, very covertly of course, was overjoyed. It recognized the necessity of constant and expensive entertaining by its ambassadors and ministers. It would like to see the money spent where it will count, however.

Hint to careerists: Cut more Americans, court more furriners. Ambassadors get $17,500 a year, which seems big potatoes to most of us, but doesn't stack up very high diplomatically. It costs more than that to do the part at London and Paris. Congress used to appropriate a little on the side for the entertainment fund. But an economy wave, together with a discovery during prohibition days that some of the money went for wines and other liquor, put an end to it.

HAD A HOT TIME

Queets, Wash. — (P) — Quallaute Indians have their own Jonah story, says C. H. Howatell.

They relate that the brother of Qua-Ti the Renolvent was swallowed by a giant fish in the Raft river and that Qua-Ti threw heated stones into the stream to make the fish disgorge his kin.

When the stream receded with the tide, Qua-Ti found the fish had been cooked, as anticipated. Unfortunately his brother had been cooked, too.

INSIDE JOBS

Washington — (P) — G-men estimate that three out of four bank robberies committed in the United States during 1936 were "inside jobs."

During the year, 209 bank officials and employees were convicted of stealing bank funds, but only 73 bank robbers.

We've gone to town in cool suits because you're leaving town next week

Well, maybe not next week . . . but next month surely . . . and this stock is for the man who needs a vacation the worst way and knows the best way to take it. In cool suits, $16.75 to $30.00. In shirts that make an ounce of prevention cure a pound of heat.

Group of 31 Scouts and Leaders Leave for National Jamboree

A group of 31 Valley Council Boy Scouts and leaders left Appleton by train this morning for the national encampment at Washington, D. C. The Fox river valley delegation will bring one of the most unique and novel encampments because practically all equipment will be of paper construction and materials. The Valley Council group is led by E. E. Thomas, jamboree scoutmaster, assisted by Don Cole and J. Wesley Olsen, and Walter Dixon, scout executive, who left for Washington last week to arrange for the jamboree exhibits.

The entire group will camp on Columbia island in the Potomac river and will be part of the delegation of 27,000 scouts and leaders expected to attend the 10-day encampment, June 29 to July 9. The unit joined with other contingents at Chicago this noon and are scheduled to arrive in Washington Tuesday morning.

The rustic exhibit includes a miniature log cabin built by August Plinkowsky, Valley Council commissioner; a folding table complete with side seats built by the Wolf patrol; a model bridge and signaling tower built by the Silver Fox patrol; a swing for two adults built by Jack Martin, Jim Long and James Bohr of the Lion patrol; a rustic cedar hall tree and wash stand built by the Lion patrol.

Power Co. Exhibit

The Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. has prepared a large exhibit with Wisconsin labeled as the "Nation Land of America" on a large map of the United States and containing a large map of Wisconsin showing the Valley council area in colors. The center piece is four feet by four and one-half feet wide and contains eight large photographs of Gardner dam and a large painting of the scout camp.

Fred Treize, Jr., has been named to the staff of the Jamboree Journal, a daily paper to be published at the jamboree. He and another scout will have charge of Illinois. Young Treize is on the staff of the high school and was editor-in-chief of "The Mirror," Roosevelt Junior High school publication.

Three Patrols

The group has been broken down into three patrols and Ivan Nordstran, Clintonville is the senior patrol leader. Following are the patrols and their personnel:

Health Queries Answered

Question: Mr. W. L. L. Shiocton, writes that he is suffering from stomach trouble. Will Chiropractic correct this condition?

Answer: The first duty is to keep himself well; his next is to help others to do so. Chiropractic is original and is the only health form of its kind in the world. It reaches that a live man does not consist only of matter—that is, bone, flesh and blood. There is something more that makes this man alive, that actuates his every action, that causes his heart to beat, his lungs to breathe, his stomach to digest, and etc., this something is called force of life. It is something not tangible, something you cannot see, hear, smell or feel, never-the-less, we must all admit its presence or existence. The Brain where all impulses are generated and transmitted over the spinal cord and nerves to all parts of the body, where they are expressed as life, therefore, the mental impulses are essential to life. For example, you have the Brain sending out impulses which pass over the efferent nerves to the stomach, where they are expressed in the function of digestion. That is the Brain furnishes the stomach with the power which it carries on digestion. The efferent nerves in the stomach are constantly taking up impressions from the stomach which they conduct to the Brain for interpretation, which gives to the Brain the information of what is occurring in the stomach and the quantity and quality of impulses needed to carry on this process normally. Now, should this nerve passing to the stomach become pressed upon or impeded by a slightly displaced vertebra in the neck the transmission of the impulse or function of the nerve would be impaired, and the stomach would fail to receive the proper amount of life force with which to perform its function of digestion, thus, then, would be called indigestion and could only be corrected by relieving that impingement. For your health apply to Chiropractic.

Refuse Request Of Kaukauna in Paper Mill Sale

Executive Group Acts on Advice of District Attorney

Acting on the advice of Raymond P. Dohr, district attorney, the Outagamie county executive board Saturday refused to take action on a request of the city of Kaukauna that the county be reasonable with the city in the sale of the Outagamie Paper company mill at Kaukauna. The mill is scheduled for sale soon to satisfy delinquent real estate taxes owed to the county and personal property taxes owed to the city of Kaukauna.

Charles R. Seaborn, Alderman Walter Cooper and H. F. Weckworth, superintendent of the Kaukauna utility plant, appeared at the board meeting to discuss the sale of the paper company's property at Kaukauna. The city is anxious to acquire the property for its exclusive water rights. More than $80,000 in delinquent taxes must be realized on the property.

Explains City's Position

The committee, representing the city of Kaukauna, explained the city would be interested in buying the property if the county tax certificates could be obtained at less than their face value. However, the district attorney pointed out that this could not be done under the state statutes.

Lester Brenzel, Kaukauna city clerk, in a letter to the board asked about payment of two watchmen in the building. He was instructed to refer to a previous letter of the board authorizing the employment of two watchmen at $75 a month each. The county will stand the expense of the watchmen.

Discuss Pension Laws

M. W. Keith of the state pension department and members of the county pension committee met with the board to discuss pension department problems. It was decided no action will be taken until the state legislature has finished consideration of a social security bill.

Additional help will be provided for the county register of deeds of office as long as necessary, the committee decided. A. L. Collar, register of deeds, asked that the help be retained for at least two months.

R. C. Swanson, county agricultural agent, and members of the county agricultural committee, presented a request for funds to finance promotion of the 4-H club movement in conjunction with the Seymour fair. The board appropriated $500 and recommended that the county board of supervisors appropriate another $500 for that purpose at its next session.

Motor Police Duties

Fred Frank, undersheriff, reported that county highway motor police were not fulfilling all of their duties. The matter was referred to the motor police, Raymond P. Dohr, district attorney, members of the highway committee Sheriff John F. Lappen. This group is expected to outline the duties of the motor officer and provide for carrying out of the duties.

A recommendation of R. C. Swanson, county agricultural agent, to raise the salary of Mildred Kittelson, the county agent's secretary, to $85 per month was approved by the board. The raise will be effective starting June 15, 1937.

F. F. Gilson, visitor for the county pension department, was given an increase of approximately $25 per month for expenses. Gilson received.

A communication from the Children's Home and Aid society of Milwaukee, an agency which provides for care of unmarried mothers, asking that the $50 which could not legally be given to the Salvation Army of Milwaukee, a similar agency, be given to the Children's Home and Aid hospital was referred to the county board for consideration at its next session.

The board referred the request of Harry McAndrews, Kaukauna's city attorney, asking for title to 15 feet of county-owned property for the purpose of straightening a road, to the county board.

Bills totaling approximately $900 were approved and the board decided to send copies of the quarterly report of the auditors to each member of the county board of supervisors.

OUR HOME TOWN

JULY FOURTH
by Schommer's

Brave men they were, who signed that Declaration of Independence—brave with a love of country which transcended personal safety—in their faith in the future of the free nation they brought into the world.

Ridiculously we shall celebrate our independence with deep-seated joy, with festal and merry-making, with ringing bands and flying flags, with booming cannon and deafening fireworks.

But let us take a moment in the midst of the celebration to realize anew the sacred significance of the day, to resolve to be worthy of our heritage of freedom, and to know that the price of liberty must be paid in unending watchfulness, lest any man or group of men, greedy for power, deprive us of our birthright.

The Liberty Freedom and Equality to which our nation is dedicated, are precious things. But they are for a sturdy, self-reliant people only. They are not for weaklings. No nation can long possess them which is timorously willing to barter them for the sake of temporary security or fleeting profits.

Girl Scouts Open Camp At Waupaca

THE Appleton Girl Scout camp began its fifteenth year of camping on Onaway Island Friday with an enrolment of 84 girls from Princeton, Kaukauna and Green Bay as well as Appleton. The camp is divided into units as are all registered Girl Scout camps. The unit for small girls is named the Knights of the Round Table; the Pirate unit is for girls of intermediate age and older girls are members of the Cowboy unit.

Thursday afternoon, the day before the opening of the camp session, a group of fathers of prospective campers went to Onaway Island and spent the afternoon nailing mosquito netting on each tent. Because the system had been tried by several tents last year and found satisfactory, it was put on all tents this year.

Offer Classes
The classes offered at camp include dramatics, handicraft, canoeing, life saving, archery, photography, horseback riding and swimming. The dramatic classes are busy preparing a play for the Wednesday night camp fire, and the nature class is gathering specimens of fungi, moss, stones and plants for a camp museum.

One of the most popular with the campers is the handicraft class. Some of the things being made by this class are wooden sandals, carved rings from wooden forms and bead purses and belts. The holders and book ends are being made from copper kits, and bells, head bands, bracelets and rings are being made out of lustrous lace, a kind of cellophane string which has the appearance of leather.

Horses for riding are obtained at the Ranch hotel near Waupaca. Each girl taking this sport rides on the average three times a week for one-half hour each time.

The saving class includes those girls who are working for their junior life saving badge. The photography class is taught the rudiments of taking good pictures as well as how to develop films.

Swimming Rules

In order to swim in deep water a camper must pass the deep water test or sunfish test. In the first two days of camp 29 girls passed their sunfish test. They are Nancy Schuetter, Joan Frawley, Pat Buersching, Dorothy Del Marcell, Kathryn Driessen, Erin Johnson, Jean Nelson, Mary McCarty, Jo Ann McCarty, Judith Curvent, Elaine Cohen, Mary Jo Donohue, Delores Dericks, Rose Ann Gmeiner, Donna Hiestand, Carol Leigh, Mary Margaret Haugen, Germaine Schmalz, Janet Playman, Marjorie Pein, Romana Mangold, Jane Bolinski, Mary Jane Schermittler, Nancy Seaborn, Muriel Miller, Nancy Mueller, Barbara Small, Mimi Roulet, and Carol Teske.

About 30 girls are taking canoeing. Some are beginners and others have already had canoeing instruction. Those renting canoes are allowed to take them out during the regular boating hour after supper when the other campers go out in row boats.

What's New at the Library

For the many readers who applauded and chuckled over Marjorie Hillis' "Live Alone and Like It," the news that another book by her, "Orchids on Your Budget," has been received at the Appleton Public library will be most welcome. This new book tells how to have a good time on a slim budget. Miss Hillis contends that the feeling of poverty isn't a matter of having a small income so much as being behind with one's bills, or not making the income stretch over the things one wants. Without the diagrams and higher mathematics of the budgeters, the author tells how to live within one's means and still have cocktails, theaters, parties, trips, cocktails, permanent waves, and liacs in the springtime. It is being poor doubly that gets you down, Miss Hillis says. Being smart on a limited income is an amusing game with winnings that are worth getting.

Judges and attorneys will be interested in the book "Invention and the Law," by Harry Aubrey Toulmin, Jr., which is ready for circulation at the library. A summary of the findings of the courts on patentable inventions, it is a convenient manual for the use of bench and bar. It confines itself to essential principles derived from the pronouncements of the Supreme court of the United States and of the various circuit courts in order to show how a coordinate judiciary of another English speaking nation handles the same question and how it applies the principles of a common equity.

The problem of where to spend one's vacation may be solved by reading Gordon Brinley's "Away to Quebec," another of the new books at the library. It is a record of a summer spent among the beauties of Charlevoix county in Quebec. Sally, the almost human car, takes Dan and the Duchess up and down mountain roads after a boat trip up the St. Lawrence and Saguenay. The author tells about trout fishing at Tadoussac, a visit to an old Hudson Bay trading post and a weekend at Manoir Richelieu, and also gives useful information about hotels, food and routes.

"The Third Reich," a discussion of Germany under national socialism, by Henri Lichtenberger, a professor at the University of Paris, is one of the more important books recently received at the library. Nicholas Murray Butler, in his foreword to the book, says, "Under conditions such as now exist it is quite impossible for any German scholar to write an objective and dispassionate review of that which has happened in Germany since the Armistice. It would seem to be almost equally impossible for any French scholar to accomplish this task, but Prof. Lichtenberger has done precisely that. Born himself in the disputed territory of Alsace, he has been a lifelong student of German philosophy, German literature and German institutions. In this volume he reviews the events of the last 20 years and shows himself able to weigh the arguments in favor of policies and practices in which he does not believe and which he cannot accept."

Interesting summer reading is "Great Smoky Mountains," by Laura Thornborough, recently put into circulation at the library. For the last 10 years the author has had a small cottage nestling at the foot of Mt. LeConte, and with knapsack and camera has explored this and other lofty summits, has ridden horseback and tramped through valleys and along hidden trails. In this book she answers almost every question a prospective tourist could ask about this region which the President recently made the high point of a special itinerary.

A travel book in a different vein is "Away From It All," by Cedric Belfrage, British journalist, and "gallop-around-the-world," who tried to run away from facts by taking a whirlwind trip around the world. He describes himself as an escapologist, a person who "looks the facts of life in the back of the neck or by sheer force of the imagination conjures them out of existence or runs away from them."

There are five new German books at the library. "Der Hohe Schein," by Ludwig Ganghofer; "Das Schwarze Weib," by Julius Wolff; "Der Kraft-Meyer," by Ernst von Wolzogen; "Die Kleine Elten," by Rudolph Stratz; and "Kommodianten," by Walter Bloem.

"Gold," by Richard S. Francis, gives a thorough analysis of the rules of golf both for the beginner and the experienced player, arranged in a series of questions and answers.

Mrs. Charles Selig, 415 E. South River street, entertained Saturday at a miscellaneous shower for her daughter, Rose, who is to be married to Harold Wirth July 12. Thirty-two guests were present, and prizes at a schafkopf went to Mrs. Louise Weison and Miss Clara Reetz. In dice the prizes were won by Mrs. Mable Johnson and Mrs. George Goman. The special prize was awarded to Mrs. George Selig.

Beg Pardon

The hostesses for the kitchen shower given last week for Miss Emma Gawecke were Mrs. Raymond Danke and Miss Mary Gehring. Prize winners were Miss Ruth Bernhardt and Miss Evelyn Kress.

ranged for easy reading and quick reference. It answers specifically every important question of rules and procedures which has been raised for many years. There are chapters on handicapping, the management of tournaments and the writing of local rules. The book is approved and recommended by the United States Golf association.

For those who like biography there is one of Harriet Beecher Stowe, by Catherine Gilbertson, which has been put into circulation at the library. The life-span of the author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" all but covered the period of her country's development from the 13 original states into a world empire and makes interesting reading.

In "Recovery of Ideals," by Georgia Harkness, the author presents her solution to the present crisis in morale. She finds that the greatest cause for viewing the future with alarm is not the economic depression but the depression of morale of youth, the lack of a fundamental objective for life.

Open Longest and Best Suit With No Trump Bid

WHEN TO MAKE A SHORT SUIT LEAD

(Copyright, 1937, Ely Culbertson) While you must remember that your longest and best suit usually should be opened at no trump, there are certain cases in which a short suit lead may be made.

1. When your hand is so weak that there seems to be no hope of establishing your own long suit, make a warning short suit lead. A warning lead is made from a hand such as:

♠ 9 6 3 ♥ 8 6 ♦ 10 8 6 5 3 ♣ 5 2. Even if your partner should be strong in diamonds and have one or two aces, after the suit is established you never can get the lead to cash the established cards. It is better, therefore, to open a short suit in the hope that it will be your partner's long suit, and that he will have enough entries to establish and cash it.

In making a warning lead, prefer a three card suit to a doubleton. But do not open a three card suit headed by honor unless you have no other available lead. From the hand in the foregoing paragraph, the best lead is the ♠ 9. Sometimes a three card suit, such as ♠ 9 x or ♠ 10 x, may be opened. Then ♠ x is an excellent short suit lead.

TODAY'S HAND

It is not often that a declarer can deliberately throw away a trick, to extract a two-for-one repayment from the enemy. In the hand shown below, however, South managed that unusual feat and fulfilled a contract that was impossible by any other method.

North Dealer. North-South vulnerable. Thirty part-score.

NORTH
♠ Q 10 7 6
♥ 5 4
♦ K 8 7
♣ 6 5 3 2

WEST
♠ 8 5 3 2
♦ J 10 6 5

EAST
♠ J 9 4
♥ A 9 7 3
♦ A Q 9
♣ K Q J

SOUTH
♠ A K
♥ K Q J 10 8 2
♦ A 8 2
♣ A 4

The bidding:

North East South West
Pass 1 no trump 3 hearts Pass

South considered his own vulnerability and 50 part-score sufficient reason for going out for game rather than doubling the nonvulnerable no trump for penalties.

Had West opened the jack of diamonds, the defeat of the contract would have been automatic, since the loss of three diamonds, one club and one heart could not have been avoided. The ten of clubs opening lead, however, gave declarer the opportunity for a beautiful play.

He won the first trick and laid down the heart king. East won and returned the king and queen of clubs. South followed to the first, and ruffed the second with the eight of hearts. Two more high trumps now disclosed that East had started with four, which gave declarer food for thought.

It was quite obvious that the diamond king would not stand up as an entry to dummy, hence to draw trumps and lead a diamond would virtually be surrendering three diamond tricks and the contract. If declarer had cashed his high spades, drawn trumps and led a diamond, West would merely have had to be careful to put up a high diamond so that his partner would not be thrown into an automatic end-play.

On the logical assumption that, since East had held four hearts, the rest of his hand probably was divided 3-3-3, declarer saw a splendid avenue to his contract. He cashed the ace and king of spades and, instead of picking up East's nine of trumps, deliberately played the deuce in order to throw East on lead. After that play East was helpless. A spade return would concede two tricks to the dummy, where as the lead of the ace and another diamond would have precisely the same effect.

Thus, conceding a trump trick, although such concession was totally unnecessary, saved two tricks and the contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Old Gardener Says:

By E. L. Farrington Undoubtedly, cold water has a tendency to check the growth of plants, and that is one reason why a sprinkling device is helpful. Most sprinklers throw the water into the air where it probably is warmed somewhat before it reaches the ground. In any event, it does not flow on to the plants in a heavy cold stream. The fact that the temperature of the water has an appreciable effect on plants is shown by the methods of some peony growers who want very early flowers for the early Spring trade. They have found that by applying hot water to the plants for a week or two they can obtain blossoms several days ahead of those from plants which receive only cold water.

My Neighbor Says—

Phlox plants, which keep coming up here and there throughout the garden, should be pulled up and destroyed. There is great temptation to leave them, but these plants almost invariably will produce flowers of an unpleasant magenta color. Many gardeners are obliged because the owners fail to observe this precaution.

Instead of baking custards in the oven try cooking them in cups placed in a kettle of water on top of stove. If water is kept boiling custard will be perfectly cooked.

When sealing fruit butters or preserves, place a circle of thin cheese-cloth on top and sprinkle this with ground cinnamon. The spice prevents mold from accumulating on the fruit.

Dirndls for the Beach

The dirndl, which has traveled so far in the fashion world since it left its Austrian birthplace, has now been adapted to beach and play clothes for the American deb. Coral and white striped cotton print makes the frock, whose design is reminiscent of the Austrian peasant costume and blue and white cotton print makes the shorts worn under it.

Making Air Travel Safer

How can we make air travel safer? That is one of the problems of modern times. Often people say, "Men have conquered the air," but the statement is only partly true. We shall not really "conquer" the air until we make flying safer than it is today. There is so much more space in the air than on the highway that flying ought to be safer than motoring. Maybe it will become so in the future.

People in Los Angeles, Chicago and other American cities saw the Graf Zeppelin in later stages of its famous trip. Many persons felt that a new day in air travel had begun.

In a sense, there was a new day. During the past seven years the Graf Zeppelin has made many round trips between Germany and Brazil. Passengers have been delighted by the safe and steady flying.

Last year another German dirigible, the Hindenburg, made ten round trips across the Atlantic, with passengers and mail. It was indeed a giant of the air, with a length of 803 feet, and with a lifting gas volume of more than seven million cubic feet.

Meanwhile two huge American dirigibles had been sailing the skies, and both had come to disaster. The Akron and the Macon, each almost as large as the Hindenburg, had been destroyed. One had dropped into the Atlantic, the other into the Pacific.

When the Hindenburg blew up the past spring, it seemed that the event might end efforts to make airship passenger travel successful. It probably will not work out that way, however. Ever since the days of Count Zeppelin, Germans have been the leaders in building flying machines of this kind. After a number of failures, they brought forth dirigible balloons which could ride through fierce storms. The end of the Hindenburg was brought about by explosive gas. In the future, German experts may put helium (a gas which does not explode) in their dirigibles.

Household Troubles are Not Unusual, Patri Says

BY ANGELO PATRI

If a household had no more trouble than what grew out of its own life there would be enough to go around and to spare. No home but has its trials of sorts. Temperaments clash, personalities war with each other, double and fears and illness appear to cause anxiety and force adjustment. This is expected and taken more or less as a matter of course.

There are few families that escape as easily as that. Few are without some additional members who, for one unquestioned reason or another, must make their homes with whichever branch of their family can best afford to take them, or whose duty makes taking them imperative.

There is the invalid uncle who makes his home with his sister. An aged father or mother who must have care and has no other place to look for it but this home with his son or daughter. And there is the luckless one whose schemes never quite pan out and who has to retreat for food and shelter to the more-or-less welcoming bosom of this family. Any family knows the problems that these additional members make in the economic, administrative, general management phases of the home.

The children of the family create most of the difficulty which the additional members make. The old people have different sleeping hours than the rest of the household and the children must be quiet at hours when quiet is not in their requirements. Such relatives cannot stand the noise and the electric atmosphere that children carry about with them. All family members more than five years of age think they can solve the irritations, troubles, crises of the day, and freely, loudly, persistently offer their help to the struggling, straining, straining mother. She bears the brunt of it all.

What to do? These people must stay where they are for the time being, at least. So what the children do must be the hardest and given parents. The thing to do is to make a survey of the situation. Study to see where and how each member's rights and privileges can be preserved to him without infringement upon those of the others. Select the few major needs of the children first, then make the necessary adjustments for the rest.

Children must feel secure in their own homes. It must be decided that they are responsible to one person—their mother—and she is to be sole arbitrator of their fate without benefit of advice from anybody. That settled, the rest of the program can be set. Be frank about it, discuss it, arrange whatever compromises are necessary, but spare the children and the mother.

Beauty Rule For Summer Is Keep Cool

BY ELSIE PIERCE

NOT only do Beauty Standards change with the years, they change with the season, too. That well-groomed look takes one to beauty honors more than any other factor during the dog days of summer. Chiseled features don't matter so much as the three C's—looking calm, cool, collected. Daintiness is definitely a beauty "must." Glamour and individuality have their place in the sun, but above all else the beauty rule is: "keep and look cool."

It's such a happy circle for the one who can manage to live up to that beauty rule—it's easier to survive sweltering, humid days when the course is simple, smooth, orderly. And when one looks cool and quiet, one is that much easier on the eyes of beholder.

Thermometer Notwithstanding. The thermometer notwithstanding, you can evoke the compliment (one of the nicest beauty compliments during torrid day) "how cool you look"—if you learn to pay attention to every last little detail of personal daintiness and good grooming; if you try to remain calm and serene, do as little fussing and fussing as possible; say not one word about "hot enough, isn't it?"; if you learn that greens and blues and dark sheer browns and blacks and quiet prints are cool colors, just as linens, plaids, and cool colors are cool fabrics. Short sleeves are cooler than long (and cooler looking) and semi-fitted, sleeves better than tight sleeves; "free" necklines are better than stuffy, tight or tricky lines and too much trimming is definitely taboo. Coiffures have gone very glamorous, but you'll find that during the summer the simplest coiffures are the smartest. Don't wear your hair in a very fancy coiffure, don't overdo the curls, don't adopt a bushy, over-the-face or down on the neck hairdo. The simple, swept up, swept off the face hairstyles have been the favorite for many summers, and rightly so.

The daily or twice daily bath is a foregone conclusion: the scrubbed, tubbed, immaculate look from the skin out is important; a perspiration preventive heads the "must" list; hair is shampoo'd oftener than in the winter; perfume is light, powder is lighter in weight, darker in color (as the skin grows darker in the summer) make-up must be removed before being renewed; skin must be kept scrupulously clean and sans a single blemish; messy make-up is not to be tolerated (which means waterproof rouge and mascara must be used).

And if you want to make a trump bid for popularity, keep your surroundings as orderly and cool looking as you do your person. My detailed bulletin called "Laws for Looking Cool" will cheerfully be sent to you. Write for it, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope. Address Miss Pierce in care of the Appleton Post-Crescent.

Summer Visitors Create Real Problem at Cottages

BY DOROTHY DIX

This is the time of the year when my mail is filled with heartrending SOS cries from farmers' wives and women who own mountain camps and seaside cottages and who are being worked to death and eaten out of house and home by summer visitors.

"Till wagger," writes one woman, "that the man who wrote the song about the 'Good Old Summer Time' was born and reared on the fifty-seventh floor of a skyscraper and never set foot off of a paved street. If he had ever lived in the country, he would not have been crooning about the horror of having uninvited company descending upon him in droves and devouring him alive, and about having to sleep on a cot while Aunt Jane occupied his bed, and about the torment of having Sister Sally dump her brats on him while she went off to Europe, and about having to spend his time frizzling in hot kitchens preparing food for guests who had the appetites of Anacondas instead of resting and enjoying the scenery. And, believe me, that would have been a song that would have wrung tears out of a stone."

"When we bought a little place in the mountains," writes another woman, "we thought that we could spend our summers simply, quietly, peacefully and cheaply. Little did we know that we were unintentionally opening up a free hotel and that before the summer was over I would be worked into prostration and my budget knocked into smithereens."

"Yet that is what happened. Before we got the curtains hung, our unpaying guests began dropping in. People we hadn't heard of in years were smitten with a sudden desire for our society. Members of our families piled in on us three deep and had perfectly grand vacations that didn't cost them a cent. And nobody we had ever heard of came within fifty miles of us who didn't drop in to spend the night or a week-end, and they brought along their friends with them. When I have a nightmare I see a large automobile turning in at the gate filled with people who get out joyously calling for drinks and sandwiches."

"It took me all winter to get over my summer vacation," writes a third woman, "and so we gave up our place on the seashore much as we would have enjoyed it could we have been free from the self-invited guests who wished themselves upon us. But no servants would stay and I wasn't strong enough to do the cooking and the housework for so many people, and my husband didn't feel he could afford to run a bar where the drinks were always on the house and the host had to supply the cigarettes and gasoline for the cars. We sold the house and spend our summers traveling or at expensive resorts. It is so much cheaper."

These are all bona-fide letters selected at random from hundreds of others written by women who, like the proverbial worm, have turned at last and want to know if there is not some way in which they can defend themselves against these self-invited guests for whom they have sweated and toiled through so many hot summers, while the company lolled in hammocks in the shade and waited for their poor tired hosts to bring out iced drinks and cake.

Perhaps the only way these put-upon hostesses can rid their houses of their pestiferous guests is to do something drastic, like putting rocks on the road in the corner, or else getting hard-boiled enough to say "no" to deadbeat friends and relatives who propose themselves for nice long visits in summer. But in either case a kind-hearted woman lacks the nerve to do it, so she is left a helpless victim to the grafters.

But the situation calls renewed attention to the strange effect that temperature has in witting down our manners and morals even as it does our collars. For none of these people who descend upon their friends like the locusts in July and August would dream of doing such a thing in December and January.

In winter we wait until we are asked before we go to our friends' houses even for dinner. We would never think of such a thing as driving up to their doors with a car full of strangers and call for drinks and food as if we were in a roadhouse. But in the summer all bets are off and we pass the buck of making our friends not only entertain us but entertain our friends. Which explains why so many country places are for sale.

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Four Building Permits Issued in Last Week

With four permits issued by the building inspection department last week, new construction in the city totaled $3,152.50. The slump in building activities is not unusual as there was a falling off of the business about the same time last year. It is believed due to the approaching Independence holiday.

MURDER ON THE BLUFF

SYNOPSIS: The mysterious shooting to death of attractive Jude Blinshop makes us all jittery on this wild, stormy weekend at Farrington Bluff, home of Michael's aunts. A series of strange attacks is apparently explained when we find below the bluff the body of Michael's mad father, supposedly long since dead. But our relief is brief. Aunt Martha is shot in the shoulder by an unseen hand. Who held the gun? Mike the Skipper, his tall, tweedy younger aunt, Gay Farrington, his sweethearts, Higgins, the old butler, William, chauffeur, Cook, Annie, the maid?

Chapter 30
The Skipper Vanishes

HIGGINS was as much a fixture on Farrington Bluff as the old house itself. With every breath she drew, Martha Farrington defended anything that pertained to the old order of things. But would she defend her butler at the risk of involving the nephew whom she regarded almost as a son? I thought not.

In short, I came to the conclusion that if the angle of the mirror would allow, something of anyone standing in the doorway, M. Farrington had seen a woman's arm. If not, she had merely imagined that she saw something. The person who had killed Jude Blinshop was the same person who had tried to kill Martha and the same person who had lured Norman Farrington over the cliff to his death. And that person must be in the house known to every one of us.

If that individual had pried open the locked door of Jude Blinshop's room, he was a person of considerable strength. Michael had only one hand. Higgins was too feeble. Annie and M. Farrington were not conceivably strong enough. William, Cook, Gay, and myself were left—possibilities. I was getting too involved in the subject.

"Mike," I said, "there'll be a boat from shore by morning at the latest. Have you decided what we'll say to people?"

His clouded eyes had a somber look. "We ought to catch it every one before we decide. For Aunt Martha's sake I think we should hunt it up as much as we can. Old George Foster's the owner. He can tell us what to do, and we can let him handle the other."

"What about the Skipper?"

Michael's face was growing darker and darker. "As soon as we can get across, I'll go down there. I think I should."

I knew what he was thinking. Everything would depend upon Jude's family. We could do nothing that she had been doing. I was dead while one of us had been playing with a gun. If they would accept Higgins, I would accept the center in action as a different from the one on a fishing trip. The fact of the body in the bluff was a fact of the bluff and the fact of the bluff was a fact of the bluff.

"Right there I stopped, struck by an unhappy thought. If we were to catch this thing, what if it was a man and a bird and a beast? I might even get a confession out of me and then you could—"

"Don't say that," said Annie, an ass and another ass could think of anything. I'm all right. I'm a good sort of a shock."

"I'll be there at 10 minutes," said Mike. He had been confidently as sure as the fact nothing would happen and I had half believed him. Why didn't he come? Was he building a house instead of searching for one?"

"Well," I rambled on, "how did you enjoy your sojourn in the denkey world?"

She was listening, too. I could not eyes.

"You'll have to trust me a..."

Plan More Oral Arguments on Utility Proposal

Wisconsin Michigan Power Company Objects to Menasha's Plan

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—Chief Examiner W. A. Anderson of the Wisconsin Public Service commission has announced that additional oral arguments on the proposal of the city of Menasha to allow service by its municipal electric utility to the Marathon Paper mills will be heard on the legal questions involved next week.

Plans to serve the paper mill were contested by the Wisconsin Michigan Power company at hearings this week and a delicate legal point was raised.

The hearing was on the alternative proposal of the city utility to install either a $250,000 2,000 kilowatt or a $450,000 3,500 kilowatt steam generating plant and to use present diesel generating equipment only when needed to meet peak loads.

Offers Objection V. B. Wake, Milwaukee, representing the Wisconsin Michigan company, objected to the larger installation being authorized on the ground that its purpose is to permit the municipal utility to serve the paper mill and that the municipal plant has no legal right to do so.

Wake asserted that when Menasha acquired the company's Menasha plant as a municipal utility about 25 years ago, an agreement was made that the company would continue to serve all customers in Neenah with a demand of more than 25 kilowatt, and that such customers would be factories and shops with large power requirements.

The paper mill is such a customer, Wake declared, and the municipal utility has no right to serve it. He said that under the law the company and the municipal utility each have exclusive monopolies in Menasha—the city plant of all customers with a demand of 25 or less kilowatts and the company for large customers.

To settle the question, the commission has ordered further hearings, the date to be announced early next week.

Auto Accidents Mount in County

Figures for June Indicate Increase in Mishaps

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh—The auto accident total for Winnebago county continues to mount with an average of about two accidents a day for the first 26 days of June. Floyd L. Wright, secretary of the Winnebago County Traffic Safety council, said today.

There have been 49 accidents involving automobiles through June 26 with 26 injured and one fatality. In the same period last year, there were 23 accidents resulting in 25 persons injured and four deaths.

The record for the year, Mr. Wright's report reveals, has a total number of auto accidents to date of 234 with 139 injured and 3 deaths. For the same period in 1936, there were only 128 auto accidents with 104 persons injured and 12 deaths.

Menasha Society

Threat of Rain Fails to Dampen Spirits at Picnic

Menasha—The skies were sullen and rain was offering to come down any moment, but the city employees had their picnic anyway Saturday afternoon and evening at the municipal bathing beach and they had a good time.

In the baseball game and tug-of-war contest, the spectators were not sure who won, for both sides claimed victory and refused to admit defeat. The fierce rivalry that had seethed all week long between the city council, commissioners and employees was softened considerably in the mellowness of the picnic spirit and the boys were even slapping each other on the back.

In the first tug-of-war of the day, the side which had such men as Berro, Resch and Pink hauling at the hemp, almost pulled a fast one by throwing a hitch around a fence post.

But their strategy was detected and matched by the other team, boasting such athletes as Beach, Younger and Slomski, and these fellows tied up with the foundation on the beach house and what that didn't work, tried the pump.

Too Much Talk

The contest was called a stalemate and a new one ordered. This time they all depended on the grip.

Ask Elimination Of Trading Stamps In Badger State

Shawano and Neenah Merchants Favor Abolition

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—Elimination of the "vicious evil" of trading stamps is urged by Henry Wolff and 31 other residents of Wittenberg, Shawano county, in a petition introduced in the state senate by Senator Mike Mack of Shiocton.

A senate bill to prohibit the issuance of trading stamps by stores has already been killed and an identical bill in the assembly, authored by Assemblyman Cornelius T. Young of Milwaukee, is now pending. Trading stamp legislation has been among the most controversial in the present session of the legislature.

Senator Mack has also been asked to support a bill which would grant old age pension benefits of $75 monthly to all over 60 years of age. The bill is doomed for almost certain death in the assembly, although dozens of aged Wisconsin citizens pleaded with the finance committee last week for its passage.

Oshkosh Backward In Securing PWA Building Grants

Report of State Director Shows City Below Other Towns

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh—That the city of Oshkosh has been unusually backward about securing federal funds for public building construction from the Public Works administration in contrast to other cities in the Fox river valley and Wisconsin, was indicated today by a report received from Leo J. Voell, Wisconsin state director of the PWA, at Milwaukee.

While other Wisconsin communities have taken advantage of the federal PWA program and entered into a partnership with the government to the tune of $36,210,493, of which $13,420,205 was an outright grant to these communities, Oshkosh has participated only in the construction of its intercepting sewer system, amounting to $850,000, federal grant $411,545.

Contrasted with the lagging attitude of the Oshkosh city officials, is Menasha and Appleton. In March, 1936, the Menasha high school was completely destroyed by fire. The following September an allotment was granted by the PWA and construction was started three months later. The 3-story school, which will cost about $600,000, is scheduled to be completed November 1, 1937. Because of the $270,000 grant, the Menasha high school will be well equipped.

Mr. Voell states, having among other things a large auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,700 persons, science rooms, library, printing rooms, sewing rooms, wood-working room, junior and senior study halls and a gymnasium to accommodate 1,200 spectators.

Appleton also has a new high school under construction, to cost about $875,000. Mr. Voell points out, its new building will be fireproof and irregular in shape. Construction on the building, Mr. Voell states, should be completed March, 1938.

Other new schools being erected in or near the Fox river valley under the PWA program include two schools at Manitowish, to cost $362,000 and $262,230; Algoma, $213,330.03; Green Bay, $221,000; and Marinette, $113,636.

Schools and gymnasiums are being built under PWA at Kaukauna, to cost $128,268.17; Kewaunee, $115,835; Seymour, $100,348.99; Bear Creek, $27,103.30; and Kimberly, $11,475.30.

The Oshkosh council has appointed the finance committee, composed of N. J. Marden, chairman; Charles Bolter, William Manser, Joseph Poeschl, Albert Roeder, and Herbert Ratzburg; and the education committee, composed of Andrew Shumway, chairman; George Clark, Joseph Poeschl, and Arthur Chapple, to meet with the school board to discuss erection of a new south side high school and gymnasium.

Members from the three independent Oshkosh business clubs will also meet with the committees. The meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday night, June 30.

Estimated cost of the proposed new high school has been set at $585,000, and the recreation-gymnasium, at $223,000. James Hart and E. R. Stewart of the Oshkosh school board have intimated that Oshkosh can get two grants to aid in building these schools.

Firemen Called to Cool Hot Gas Car
Menasha—The city fire department was called out at 11:30 Saturday morning to pour water on a tank car of gasoline that had become overheated from the sun.

The car was on the tracks near Clark's Super Gas. Washington street heat had expanded the gas and fumes were escaping from the safety valve. Railroad men were afraid to allow a switch engine to pass for fear the sparks would cause a fire. Firemen finally cooled the car with water after a half hour's work.

Gas fumes were responsible for bringing the department out again at 11:30 Saturday night. When a truck belonging to the Wheeler Transportation company, Chicago street, was being refueled, flames from a safety torch ignited the fumes. The flames were extinguished by use of chemicals.

Annual Picnics are Held by Churches
Menasha—A crowd estimated at close to one thousand people attended the annual St. Mary's church picnic held Saturday afternoon and evening on the church grounds. The St. Mary's high school band played for the picnickers. Various contests and a doll buggy parade were held.

The annual outing of the St. Thomas Episcopal church was held at the Boy Scout cabin near High Cliff park. The Rev. A. A. Chambers was in charge of the morning service. Contests were held in the afternoon.

LICENSE RENEWAL

Lawyers Lose in Trial of Hopkins Before Kangaroo Court at Picnic

Menasha—Earl Hopkins, Menasha business man, was tried and convicted of "willfully and negligently committing masonry in the night time with the intent to gawk" at the kangaroo court held Saturday afternoon at the annual picnic at the Menasha municipal bathing beach.

Judge Edward McKenzie, city attorney, seated on a folding chair and pounding on a picnic table, sternly imposed one of the heaviest sentences in the merry history of mock court. He ordered Hopkins to carry all the empty mugs back to the bar underneath the spreading trees where Andrew Zeininger, engineer at the water and light plant, was distributing refreshments.

But Hopkins' sentence was only one of the many sensational developments in the stormy session. In a drama-filled scene, Judge McKenzie fined Melvin F. Crowley, Hopkins' lawyer, and R. J. Fink, special prosecutor, $10,000,000 each and ordered them thrown in the tank for 15 days for contempt of court.

So incensed was the judge at the unethical actions of the two attorneys, who shouted and pushed during the trial, that he jumped to his feet and roared the sentence at them as the audience gasped.

Hopkins was arrested so quietly and rapidly by George Resch, assistant police chief, and Pete Clark, of the Menasha Police department, that few people knew what was happening until he was brought before Judge McKenzie in the outdoor courtroom. The atmosphere of good fellowship and cheer that had permeated the park was suddenly charged with tenseness as the defendant, trying to coax the judge into dismissing the case by laughing, was presented for trial.

Crowley demanded a jury trial for the defendant and five men were sworn in. They were W. J. Dougherty, George Stulp, O. Schommer, Charles Oberweiser and H. M. Bishop. They didn't do much, but they made a good looking jury, everyone said.

First Witness
Police Chief Alex Sloski, who signed the complaint against Hopkins, took the shaky chair under the name of John Brown to testify.

"Did you ever hear anything good about this man," Fink asked.

"No," replied the chief, "I think he should be hung." The crowd didn't take this seriously and tittered. He isn't any good," Sloski continued. "He mopes around bathing beaches."

"I object, your honor," Crowley yelled. "Let me question the witness."

Under Crowley's examination, the police chief only offered more damaging testimony against Hopkins. He said that on the night of June 25 the defendant had been seen alone on the beach with a flashlight.

But the case suddenly turned in Hopkins' favor as Resch, assuming the name of Joe Smith, took the stand. Amid cheers from the crowd, Smith (Resch) said that Hopkins had "always been a good fellow" and that he as an officer had "never seen him moping."

"This man is crazy," said Fink, the prosecutor. "I think that he (Smith, Resch) ought to be put in jail."

Tired of the whole affair and angered at the lack of dignity in the courtroom, Judge McKenzie suddenly got to his feet, fined the two attorneys, and told Hopkins to "bring those glasses back."

BY RAY SHELFHOUT
Kimberly's baseball team showed the old punch at bat and defensively here Sunday evening as it walloped Manitowoc, 11 to 3, in a Northern State league game. Fifteen hits accounted for the runs and nine of the markers were under the heading of "earned". Lefty Schoepke and Joe Vnuk bore the brunt of the shock.

Figured all along as a team that would be tough, Kimberly somehow just hadn't clicked; if the pitching held, the infield bogged down, or the power at the plate was missing. If the power at the plate was there and the infield clicked the pitching faltered.

Now, it seems, after a few changes Manager Whitey Behrendt has found the combination.

The infield with Horn on third, Schroeder on short, Le May on second and Bowman on first, looked next to tops last night. But one mis-cue marred its fielding while at the plate Bowman collected three for four including a triple. Horn two for five, Le May one for three and Schroeder one for four.

The Papermakers put their big bats to work in the first and scored three times. Zinth was safe and went to second when Zigmund errored on McCambridge's comeback high throw. Cashman popped to first, Horn and Bowman singled, Schroeder fanned U. Wildenberg singled and Le May fanned.

In the third Schoepke got in trouble again when Horn opened with a single to right. Bowman was hit by a pitched ball. Schroeder sacrificed and U. Wildenberg grounded to Schoepke who cut off Horn at the plate. Le May laid one down and Bowman and Schroeder scored when Schoepke threw past the catcher. Vnuk relieved Schoepke. Behr then sent Borths kiting it for the centerfield fence as he drove a long fly out next to the flag pole for a triple. U. Wildenberg scored. C. Zinth then singled scoring Behr. Cashman and Horn grounded out to end the inning. Four hits had scored five runs.

In the fourth and eighth Kimberly scored again. In the fourth Bowman opened with a triple to left center and scored on U. Wildenberg's single. Le May singled, Behr sacrificed and S. Wildenberg rolled to Vnuk who trapped U. Wildenberg between third and home. Scherer threw high to home. Wildenberg and Le May crossing the plate. Behr and Jansen ordered Le May back to third, however, and players and Manager Behrendt swarmed on Casey. Argument was futile as Casey stuck by his guns and Le May went back to third.

In the eighth Kimberly got a run on Schroeder's single. Le May's sacrifice and Behr's single.

Manitowoc scored its runs in the fourth and fifth.

In the fifth Vnuk grounded to Behr. Gray singled, Wilda was safe on a fielder's choice when Horn threw out Gray going into second. Scherer then doubled to deep right scoring Wilda. McCambridge flied to center for the third out.

In the fourth Wilda was safe on an error. Scherer stroked, Zigmund and Borths singled scoring Wilda and Scherer.

Behr's fast ball was hopping nicely and pop-ups and weak rollers were much in order.

Captain Walter Hagen Picks Five American Veterans, Three Rookies

Southport, Eng. (AP)—Captain Walter Hagen today selected five men with British golfing experience and three rookies to start defense of the Ryder cup against Great Britain in the Scotch foursomes over the rugged Southport and Ainsdale course tomorrow.

The nonplaying captain of the American forces sent Sam Snead, sensational Sarazen and Denny Shute, Byron Nelson and Ted Duquesne, Tony Manera and Ralph Guldahl, the American open champion, and Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta for the tandem events. Hagen indicated, however, that Snead and Smith both would be in the singles lineup which will be announced tomorrow night.

Revolta, Guldahl and Nelson are playing in Great Britain for the first time.

SELECT 8 GOLFERS FOR BRITISH MEET

Captain Walter Hagen Picks Five American Veterans, Three Rookies

Southport, Eng. (AP)—Captain Walter Hagen today selected five men with British golfing experience and three rookies to start defense of the Ryder cup against Great Britain in the Scotch foursomes over the rugged Southport and Ainsdale course tomorrow.

The nonplaying captain of the American forces sent Sam Snead, sensational Sarazen and Denny Shute, Byron Nelson and Ted Duquesne, Tony Manera and Ralph Guldahl, the American open champion, and Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta for the tandem events. Hagen indicated, however, that Snead and Smith both would be in the singles lineup which will be announced tomorrow night.

Revolta, Guldahl and Nelson are playing in Great Britain for the first time.

SEYMOUR—Seymour tossed the Northern Land o' Lakes league baseball race into a 3-way tie yesterday when it defeated Cecil, 5 to 2, at Cecil. Seymour, Bonduel and Cecil now are leading with the first round closing next Sunday when Bonduel and Cecil battle to determine which will be ousted. Seymour draws Krakow.

Seymour turned in a pretty fair exhibition yesterday getting 10 hits good for 5 runs. Al Bauer held the Cecil squad in check all the way with eight hits.

Seymour opened the game with a run in the first when Roy Puls scored. He drew a walk, advanced on Palmer's hit and both moved along on Nickodem's sacrifice. Puls registered on a fly to the outfield. Cecil got the run back in its half the inning.

In the second Seymour counted twice. Ralph Puls singled. Hammen got a hit and Gertz a sacrifice. Al Bauer then walked and the first two scored on Palmer's single.

In the seventh Seymour loaded the sacks and Roy Puls smacked one down the base line which the umpire called foul and Seymour kicked at length about. In the eighth still smarting under the adverse decision, Seymour went out and counted two more runs. Vande Walle doubled and scored. Ralph Puls' triple. The latter registered on a fielder's choice.

Irwin Is Taken to New York to Face

3 Murder Charges

murders, as well as additional state-

Irwin was held without bail today in two brief court appearances and hired a widely known criminal lawyer to defend him against the triple slaying charges.

Samuel Leibowitz, who has de-defended 123 persons in the first degree murder trials without a client going to the electric chair, announced the eccentric young man had retained him as counsel and immediately won a postscript.

The Law Acts Quickly
The law acted swiftly. A minute and a half—in line-up to homicide

All three slayings were "accidental," Irwin is quoted as saying in the Chicago statement, since he "was not out of it by murdering somebody. If I were to do something like that I would put myself on a spiritual plane and make everything even."

The young sculptor said he would be saved from the electric chair because he was a friend of the family.

While the indictment request was to be presented at "the earliest possible moment," Irwin was watched in a 24-hour guard by three pohimself to prevent any danger of his own life.

The confession made to the Chicago newspaper apparently was accepted by the New York police, for Valentine and Dodge said:

"He (Irwin) further stated that the statement which he made to the newspapers in which was revised and corrected by him, and signed by him, and that that statement was a correct statement."

Irwin Questioned

After issuing their statement, Valentine and Dodge continued to question Irwin.

"I don't know what you want to kill her. I thought she didn't know who I was. But she did. And what cost her life was that she said so. . . . She knew me. I didn't know what to do. I didn't want to murder the whole neighborhood. I wanted to let Ronnie live if I could."

Said "I have no alternative."

"She was beautiful. I hate to destroy beauty. . . . I began to think that, with Ronnie knowing me as she did, I didn't have any alternative. I strangled her."

All this time the roomer, Frank Byrnes, a club waiter, was asleep in questioned him through the early morning hours. At 4:25 a. m. he was booked by telephone at the Elizabeth street station, charged with triple homicide.

Finally at 6 a. m., after more than five hours of grilling, Irwin was taken to the next room. He had seen Irwin enter. The statement told of plunging an ice pick into the side of his skull.

Another wait, this time for Ethel. She failed to appear. Irwin walked out into the hall.

Dodge announced Irwin had "made a complete confession," but added it was "not signed."

In the course of the morning a man described by Dodge as Dr. Werthen, eleven hospital psychiatrist, called at headquarters and talked with Irwin at the sculptor's request.

Dr. Werthen is a friend of the defendant, and the defendant is a friend of his," said Dodge. "Irwin asked to see him. They have complete confidence in each other."

The wheels of justice turned speedily from his arrest soon after.

He was happily walked into the Moscow office, but details of the flight were known then and his arrest Sunday afternoon were not made public.

His face almost expressionless, wearing nattily attired in a white linen suit, was rushed from Floyd Bennett airport to the headquarters in a motor caravan of several sirens, Valentine, Dodce, and Moscow. (The Official quarters discounted today reports that Sigismund Levanevsky, noted soviet pilot, had become involved in the latest wave of arrests in Russia.

These persons declined to say where Levanevsky had been since his known flight three weeks ago, but they said that if he might be ensnared in secret preparations for a second soviet transpolar flight to the United States.

the consecutive game in which he has hit safely.

Polado split with St. Paul, winning the first game 6 to 1 on Sullivan's steady pitching and losing 15 to 2 as the Saints charged extra innings in a nightcap at St. Paul. Granger and an unnamed pitcher were credited with setting the pace.

Sullivan took two games from Louisville to gain an even break in the series, defeating the Colonel 13 to 6 and 21 to 4. Louisville won 13 to 6 in the first game here. Story and Heath all hit home runs and downed temperamental, Louisville's men. He was drafted to St. Paul in the summer of 1914 by war marshal and seven other soviet war lords in one for treasurable consideration with an unnamed foreign country.

Polado has been expected by foreign agents to follow the trail blazed by Valeri Chkaloff on a second flight to the United States with even greater secrecy than that just completed.

The January 1st established now, however, that other pilots are preparing for this flight, which will probably be made before mid-July. A third flight is also reported to be
